New Library At Present Site Is Discussed

3-Phase Plan Would Add Wings To Structure Now In Use

By Don Walton

A proposed, sub-divided downtown library construction program, utilizing the present library structure and site at 14th and N, was presented to City Library Board members for their consideration Tuesday.

The proposal suggests construction of two separate units, thus expanding present structure to the south along N and to the west along 14th.

Cost of the south wing, which would include a basement and 3 floor levels, was estimated at $300,000 if the basement and top floor interiors were originally constructed unfinished.

The proposed building program could be divided into 3 phases, with construction of the west unit and finishing of the south wing following construction of the south.

The entire program could also be undertaken at the same time if board members recommended.

Needs For 15 Years

The proposal, submitted to the board for its consideration by Libraries Director Charles Dalrymple, is designed to meet Lincoln's library needs for the next 15 years.

The present structure, constructed in 1904, would be used as a center core of the proposed building, providing space for a book and stack area.

"We can effectively utilize the present site with a minimum disruption of service," Dalrymple said in presenting the new proposal.

An additional advantage of the plan would allow "construction on a gradual basis" if that is deemed advisable, the director noted.

Financing Not Discussed
Means of financing any new library construction were not discussed at the meeting, although submission of a revenue bond issue to the voters has been considered in the past.

The new proposal is a departure from past plans to construct an entirely new library structure.

A bond issue election to finance a new, $1,240,000 building along the south side of N between 14th and 15th was defeated in 1956.

The proposed south wing would provide 7,500 square feet of space per level. It would be so constructed as to allow use of 12,000 of the present 15,000 square feet of stack area without interruption.

The first floor of the new unit would correspond to the present structure's basement. The basement of the new wing could be used for storage purposes.

'Best Public Service'

The new units, to be constructed of glass and pre-formed concrete, would provide "the best possible public service area first," Dalrymple pointed out.

Construction would utilize glass to provide an induc-ment to potential library users.

The south wing would contain adult, young adult and children's reading areas on the first floor in addition to a reference and service desk.

The second floor would contain specific areas for fine arts, music, and audio-visual activities, an assembly room and offices.

50 x 150 Feet

The south wing would measure 150 by 50 feet, taking the library to within a few feet of the N Street sidewalk.

The west unit provides floor space about one-third the area of the south wing.

Estimated construction costs to finish the basement and third floor of the south wing and to complete the west wing were not available.

Exact utilization of the proposed west wing was not detailed.

Board members generally agreed to consider action on the proposal at their February meeting.

Finished City Bridge Still Needs Approaches

By Virgil Falloon

Bridges are sometimes constructed "high and dry" and the stream later diverted under the structure.

But, the city engineering department is working on a new twist: It is trying to get a street to go over a bridge.

Involved is the new 52nd and Francis bridge, which was completed a week ago at a cost of $74,390.

So far, the bridge is not connected with any streets.

City Engineer Carl Fisher told the City Council that approximately 7,700 square feet of land needs to be acquired at each end of the bridge for street approaches.

"Fortunately," said Fisher, "one side is no problem—it would only take some city park land."

Being Negotiated

But, the other side, involving private property, is still in negotiation stages.

The bridge over Dead Man's Run is constructed at

Johnson Clings To Demo Reins

PARTY REGULARS IN SENATE
NIX POWER-TRIMMING BID

Washington (UPI) — Senate Democratic regulars Tuesday smothered a liberal challenge to the wide policy-making powers of the Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

A meeting of Senate Democrats rejected 51-12 a reform motion offered by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), a leader of the liberal Democrats. They then approved 51-11 a motion upholding Johnson's current policy powers.

The Democrats appeared to have settled the issue without serious rancor. Johnson said all "behaved like gentlemen" and the atmosphere of the 2½ hour party meeting was "good."

Meeting Mild

Gore agreed that the discussion was "without heat or personality." He said the liberals "may have won a great deal" anyway of focusing attention on "Democratic procedures" and the sentiment of some senators for "progressive legislation."

However, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), a key member of the liberal bloc, said "a number of senators are not quite ready for democracy." He said "they prefer to live under political colonialism."

Gore's proposal would have made the Democratic policy committee a real architect of party policy by expanding its membership. Vacancies in the committee would have been filled by the party caucus, rather than by Johnson.

One Enough

Johnson said anew after the meeting that he would call a conference of all Democratic senators whenever a "single senator" requests such a meeting.

The proposal reaffirming Johnson's powers was offered by assistant Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.), who has defended Johnson against charges of failing to push "progressive" Democratic bills.

Supporters of the Gore proposal included Sens. John A. Carroll (Col.), Joseph S. Clark (Pa.), Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Philip A. Hart (Mich.), Eugene J. McCarthy (Minn.), Pat McNamara (Mich.), A. S. Mike Monroney (Okla.), Wayne Morse (Ore.), William Proxmire (Wis.) and Ralph W. Yarborough (Tex.).

In advancing his proposal, Gore criticized a tendency toward compromise and "weasel" actions by Democratic leaders during the last session of Congress.

Over Half Century Progress Reviewed—

Holmes Retires As Board Chairman Of 1st National

Remains Director; Long-Time Leader Sees Continued Growth For City

By Don Walton

George W. Holmes—who retired Tuesday as chairman of the board of The First National Bank of Lincoln—has an optimistic eye cast to the future of his bank and the growing city which he has always called home.

Lincoln's past, in which Holmes has played a prominent and lasting role, points the way to "alluring" years to come, Holmes explains.

But first, a look at the man who grew with the Capital City.

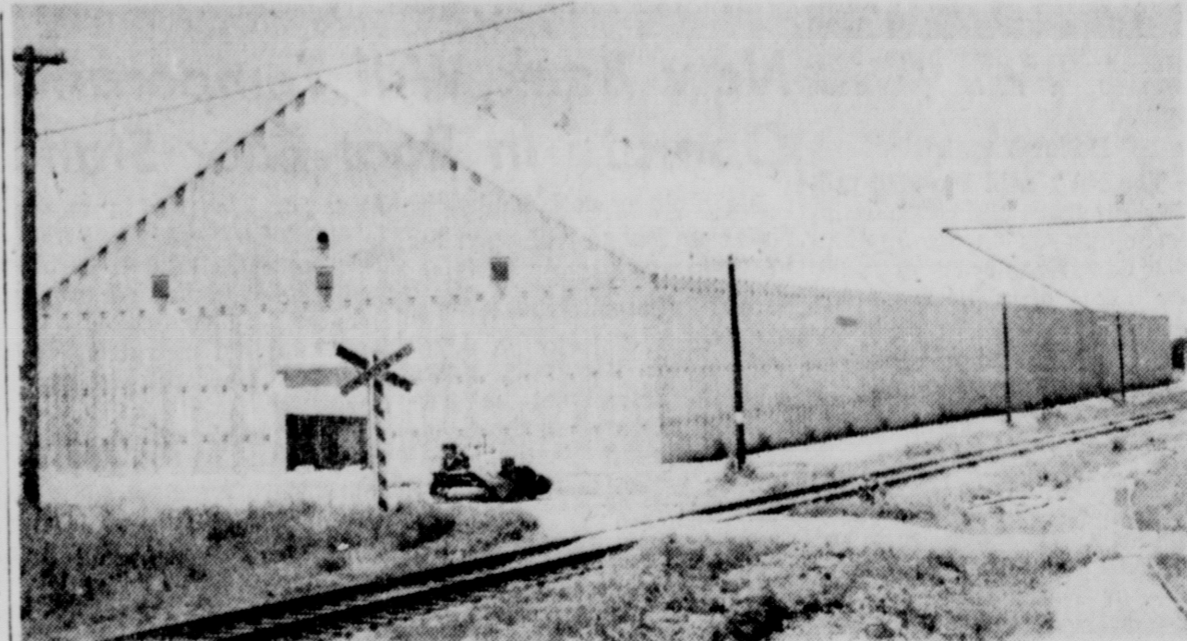

Holmes—who remains a member of the board of directors at First National—was born in Lincoln 80 years ago next month in a house just two blocks south of the present bank building at 10th and O.

Educated at the University of Nebraska and Notre Dame, the Lincolnite formed a real estate and investment firm in 1900, this time located just across the street from the corner which he was soon to make his lasting business home.

55 Years A Director
Holmes became a member of the bank's board of directors in 1905, a position he has held continuously for 55 years.

He was named president of the bank in 1927, a post in which he served until his appointment as chairman of the board in 1950.

Today, after more than half a century with First National, Holmes "looks back with pride" at the corresponding

$600,000 Norden Lab Building Set

Bids totaling approximately $600,000 have been let by Norden Laboratories, Inc., for construction of a biological production unit, it was announced Tuesday.

The unit, to be constructed on a company-owned acreage located between the company's present site at 227 P and the Municipal Airport, is the first phase of a new building program.

Meanwhile, Norden announced completion of its merger with Smith Kline and French Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa.

Closing ceremonies were held in the offices of the First Trust Company of Lincoln.

Stock Exchanged

Details included the exchange of 3½ shares of SKF stock for each share of Norden stock and transfer of all Norden assets and liabilities to SKF Laboratories as a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Officers and directors of Norden Laboratories, Inc., are Dr. E. C. Jones, president and chairman of the board; Dr. Carl J. Norden Jr., vice president and treasurer; Lewis E. Harris, secretary; Dr. J. R. Knappenberger, and J. H. Ellis, Ellis-Holyoke and Co.

No change in the administrative, production, sales and service staffs of Norden was made as a result of the merger.

Statement Given

Dr. Walter A. Munns, president of SKF Laboratories, and Dr. Jones issued a joint statement:

"Our plan will be to continue in the production of pharmaceuticals and biologicals for sales exclusively to the veterinary profession."

"Progress for Norden Laboratories, Inc., will be accelerated, with greater opportunities for employees, and new products and services to the veterinary profession, resulting from the vast research facilities of SKF Laboratories."

Contracts Awarded

Contracts for the new biological production unit were awarded to George Cook Construction Co., primary contractor for general construction; Newberg and Bookstrom, mechanical work; and Kramer Electric, electrical work.

Other miscellaneous contracts will be let in the near future.

Bids covering the remainder of the building program, including pharmaceutical production, warehousing and general offices, are to be called for as soon as specification details can be worked out.

A timetable covering an expanded sales program has not yet been completed, but the addition of more salesmen and establishment of more sales outlets in order to better serve the trade is contemplated, according to Dr. Jones.

Lincoln Figures Given

16.74 Cents Paid Per Bushel; Cost 6.84

Washington (AP) — Investigating senators were told Tuesday that some grain elevator operators are making profits as high as 167 per cent on storing surplus grains for the government.

Robert Puelz, manager of an 8 million bushel storage terminal of the Equity Union Grain Co., at Lincoln, cited that profit rate based on costs in testimony before a special Senate Agriculture Subcommittee.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), chairman of the inquiry, quipped at one point:

"In fact, I think if I ever am out of the senate, the first thing I would do is go into the grain business."

Puelz testified that last year it cost about 6.84 cents a bushel to store the government-owned grain and his cooperative was paid an average of 16.74 cents a bushel a year.

He said this was a return on investment of 26.92 per cent and that congressional permission for a fast tax writeoff had enabled him and many other elevators, both cooperatives and privately-owned, to pay most expansion costs in recent years.

'Little Risk'

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) pointed out that the Agriculture Department also had given assurance of occupancy for construction of the new grain storage facilities so there was little risk of loss.

He asked if there "is any justification for these excessively high profits?"

Puelz said bumper grain crops and large surpluses in recent years had made possible the big profits, adding that if his facility were only half full of wheat it probably would "just about break even."

"Our costs run about $2,000 a day," the elevator operator said.

"And your profits have run about $3,000 a day," Proxmire replied.

Dividends 'Not Unusual'
Puelz said the patronage dividends from his cooperative to members were not unusual and that more than half of recent profits had been put in a reserve for contingencies.

Earlier Garret B. Dudden, manager of Dudden Elevators, Inc., at Venango, Neb., told of profits of 105 per cent of costs and 26½ per cent of investment on government grain storage contracts last year.

He said it cost his firm an average of 8.27 bushel to store the wheat for a year and the government paid 16.79 cents.

Dudden said most of his elevator expansion had been under fast tax amortization and occupancy contracts and pointed out there always was the risk that the government storage program might end suddenly.

Maxine Davis, 17, of 3330 No. 67th, was slightly injured in a two-car collision at 23rd and P Wednesday.

She was treated at Lincoln General Hospital and later released.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Carol J. Geerdes, 18, of 2927 No. 50th, which was in collision with another car driven by Kenneth W. Baker, 51, of 3125 No. 68, police said.

More Fog, Cloudy Skies Predicted

Mostly cloudy skies are forecast for the state Wednesday by the Weather Bureau with fog continuing in the east and at other scattered points.

Temperatures are expected range from around 30 in the extreme northeast to 35 to 45 extreme southwest.

Tuesday a state high of 53 was reported at Sidney and Scottsbluff following an overnight state low of 25 at Scottsbluff.

Lincoln recorded a high Tuesday of 37 degrees and a low of 34.

Frontier Air Lines officials said service was resumed Tuesday afternoon on a behind schedule basis after service had been halted about 48 hours by fog.

Flights by United Air Lines were still being held up late Tuesday, officials reported, by intervening weather conditions between Lincoln and Chicago.

State's Airports Get $3,142,000

North Platte Radar Over $2,400,000;
New Tower Equipment For Lincoln

By Virgil Falloon

Approximately $3,142,000 will be spent on new air traffic and navigation facilities in Nebraska, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) announced Monday.

Largest Nebraska project will be an estimated $2,400,000 long-range radar at North Platte—one of 8 proposed for construction in the 1960 fiscal year.

Lincoln is earmarked for $168,400 for new air traffic control tower equipment.

A local FAA official said the money is probably for new traffic control equipment in the Lincoln Air Force Base tower leading to a shift in the tower's operations from military to FAA control.

These and other Nebraska projects are part of FAA announced plans to spend $118-million on navigation facilities in the 200,000 on new air traffic and United States and Alaska.

Construction money was appropriated by Congress for the fiscal year begun last July 1, but projects to be financed will be in the works well beyond the end of fiscal 1960. Only a few have been started, a FAA spokesman said.

Radar Emphasis

The FAA said the $118 million program "places continued emphasis on the application of various types of radar for air traffic control purposes."

Other Nebraska projects: —For Omaha, sequenced flashing lights for airport, $32,600 estimated cost.

—For Chadron, two direct air-ground communications channels, average cost of $108,700 per channel.

—For North Platte, radar beacon systems, $106,400 average cost.

—For O'Neill, two direct air-ground communication channels, $108,700 average cost per channel.

8 Long-Range

The total FAA construction program calls for 8 long-range radars, $2.4 million each, and 10 new air route traffic control buildings, $1.7 million each. In addition, 3 U.S. Air Defense Command radars will be available for joint use on "enroute" traffic control.

The programs also provides 20 new airport traffic control towers, new instrument landing systems at 15 airports, installation of sequenced flashing lights at 54 airports, terminal VOR devices for approaches at location, doppler VOR's at 20 locations with terrain problems, threshold lights at 22 airports, direct air-air communication at 19 stations, and improved weather and traffic control teletypewriter facilities at 500 locations.

A new international air traffic communications system will be set up at Cold Bay, Alaska, at a cost of $1.2 million, and international stations will be improved at San Juan, Puerto Rico; St. Croix, Virgin Islands; Miami, Fla., and New York.

New Zealanders Concentrate More On Math, Science

The basic difference between United States schools and those of New Zealand is that more emphasis is placed on mathematics and science in New Zealand, according to Horace Sayers, senior inspector of the post-primary schools there.

Sayers made this observation in Lincoln Tuesday, having spent a few months in the U.S. observing various school systems.

He pointed out, however, that there seems to be more similarity than one might expect. Both have a very comprehensive system of education in the secondary schools.

New Bank Will Temporarily Operate In Root Beer Stand

Lincoln's newest bank—the Gateway Bank—will open for business Saturday in temporary quarters at Cotner and O.

President Burnham Yates said the bank will be permanently located in the Gateway Shopping Center, 62nd and O, which is expected to open this fall.

Temporary quarters are the "Old Dutch Mill" root beer stand, more recently used as a restaurant and then a real estate office.

The charter for the Gateway Bank was issued by the state banking department last

Aug. 28. It's paid-in capital totals $300,000, including $200,000 capital, $50,000 surplus and $50,000 undivided profits. Yates said membership has been applied for from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Other bank officers are Max Schneider, vice president; Earl W. Johnson, vice president and cashier, and Samuel Whitworth, assistant cashier.

Directors, in addition to Yates and Schneider, are James N. Ackerman, Robert Guenzel, George Holmes, Dr. John McGreer and Max E. Roper.

General Mission Funds Upped At Westminster Presbyterian

A 1960 budget totalling $147,614 was adopted by the Westminster Presbyterian Church at its annual meeting Tuesday evening.

Included in the new budget is an increase of $2,884 for the benevolent or general mission of the church over 1959.

Wayne Cooper, treasurer of the church, reported that last year a total of $148,108.27 had been contributed to the church and spent.

Members of the church was reported at the 2,415 with 349 persons on the out of town list, accord to E. Sheldon Hallet, clerk of the congregation.

A revision in the church's by-laws, presented by the By-laws Revision Committee headed by Lewis R. Ricketts, was adopted conforming the by-laws with the new constitution of the United Presbyterian Church USA.

The Rev. W. Thomas Keefe reported on the Christian education program of the church and Minister of Music Josephine Waddell reported on the music program.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick A.

Roblee, church pastor, served as moderator of the 55th annual meeting which followed the annual congregational dinner.

The Rev. Mr. Keefe, gave a devotional address at the opening of the meeting.

Don F. Newville, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presided over the corporation meeting.

Elected to the church boards were:

Elders: L. L. Carrier, Gerald Christensen, James M. Evinger, John Hallett, Dr. S. O. Reese, M. H. Sorenson, Wm. F. Swanson, Charles Thorne, Mrs. E. L. Turner, Mrs. Glenn Yauze and R. D. Latsch.

Postal Hike To Be Asked

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower again will ask Congress to increase postal rates — a request that was turned down last year, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said Tuesday.

Halleck, the Republican House leader, did not say in talking to reporters how much of an increase would be requested or give any other details. However, one high official who declined to be quoted by name said earlier that the proposed boosts would total 500 million dollars a year.

Last year's rejected request would have brought in an estimated extra 355 million dollars. The proposal would have boosted postage on a first class letter from 4 cents to 5 and on air mail from 7 to 8 cents.

Postal rates went up on Aug. 1, 1958—first class letters from 3 cents to 4 an ounce and air mail from 6 to 7. Since then, the Post Office says there have been increases in salary and retirement payments for postal workers and in transportation costs.

Employment Level Here Not Changed

Offsetting trends during December kept employment levels in Lincoln within 100 of the November estimate of 60,350 the Nebraska State Labor Department's Division of Employment Security reported Tuesday.

The upsurge in trade during the holiday season helped compensate for mid-winter cutbacks in construction and agriculture.

Registered job seekers in Lincoln during December were 1,377 as compared with 1,863 in 1958.

Throughout the state, the number of persons registered for work rose as job offerings declined, following a normal seasonal pattern.

New applications in December totaled 6,265, about 1,100 more than in November but 700 fewer than in December, 1958.

U.S. Captain Is Punished ... For Head-Shaving In Korea

Seoul, Korea (UPI)—A U.S. Army captain was relieved of his command and a sergeant received a reprimand Tuesday for shaving the heads of two Korean prostitutes.

Another non-commissioned officer involved in the incident was not punished.

The action came shortly after the Republic of Korea lodged a formal protest with the United States over the affair and demanded that the responsible personnel be "brought to justice."

No Courtmartial

However, none of the 3 will face a courtmartial.

The United Nations Command announced that Capt. John W. McEnery of Cheyenne, Wyo., was relieved of his command and in addition received a written reprimand from the commanding general of the 7th U.S. Infantry Div. for ordering the shaving.

First Sgt. Ora Curnutte of Chillicothe, Ohio, was "admonished." Sgt. Harry K. Sounders of Kansas City, Mo., was not punished.

Iowa Firm Said Given Option To Buy Watson Bros.

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha World-Herald said Tuesday that the Walnut Grove Products Co., Atlantic, Ia., has been given an option to purchase the Watson Brothers Transportation Co., but spokesmen for both firms refused to confirm it.

Ray E. Watson, president of the trucking firm said, "We talked with some people about this but the deal did not go through."

'No Comment'

A Walnut Grove spokesman said, "No officer of our company has said anything; we have absolutely no comment at this time."

The World-Herald said one source reported the $5 million deal is to be completed Jan. 25.

Watson Brothers operates direct-service lines from Chicago to California and is rated one of the nation's top motor carriers.

Dr. Eby Files As Candidate For Congress

Dr. Howard F. Eby of Greeley filed Tuesday as a Republican candidate for Congress from the Fourth District.

His was the third filing on the GOP slate for the post now held by Don McGinley of Ogallala, a Democrat.

Former State Sen. J. Munroe Bixler of Harrison, and former State GOP Chairman David T. Martin of Kearney also have filed for the Republican nomination to the Fourth District post.

Dr. Eby, a dentist, was a candidate for the same seat in 1956, but was defeated in the Republican primary by former Rep. A. L. Miller.

Eby, 48, is a native of Hartington. In 1948 he organized the Household Hydroponics Co. at Hartington, for the manufacture and marketing of a chemical mixture to be used in soilless gardening.

370 To Graduate From NU Jan. 30

Approximately 370 students will receive degrees Saturday, Jan. 30, at the University of Nebraska's mid-year Commencement exercises, to be held at the Coliseum at 10 a.m.

There will be no commencement speaker.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin will preside and give the charge to the class. Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties, will serve as master of ceremonies, and the Rev. Charles Wilson, pastor of First Christian Church, Lincoln, will be chaplain.

Growing Southeast Lincoln To Get New Junior High School By 1963

By Germaine Deal
A site for a new junior high school in southeast Lincoln to be completed by 1963 will be sought by the Lincoln Board of Education.
The Board voted Tuesday to seek a site southeast of Southeast High School — but not attached to the school as previously indicated — in the area bounded by 27th and 70th Streets and South Street to one mile south of Pioneer Blvd.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools, recommended this action, after presenting the board figures showing the rapid increase in enrollment at Southeast Junior-Senior High School and the rapidly-growing southeast Lincoln residential areas.
A projected enrollment study shows that Southeast

Junior-Senior High School will have 1,848 students by 1963, the capacity of the school being 1,700. By 1970, the school enrollment is expected to reach 2,329.
More than 800 housing units have been built in the southeast area since Jan., 1956, the study indicates.
Dr. Watkins pointed out that growth of the area is due to Lincoln's population shift eastward and new residents selecting homes in the newer subdivisions.
He had previously recommended an addition to Southeast High would adequately accommodate the enrollment boom. However, Southeast being located near the north-west corner of the expanding area, Dr. Watkins recommended Tuesday that the new junior high be located nearer the future population center.

Teachers Transferred As Families Move To LAFB

Superintendent of Schools Steven Watkins told members of the Board of Education Tuesday that transfer of teachers has been necessary at the Gen. Arnold School in the Lincoln Air Force Base community due to some 75 families a month moving from Lincoln to the base housing area.
He pointed out that the number of public school families involved in the June departure of LAFB's 307th Refueling Squadron is not immediately known. However, since the move will involve 583 airmen, a loss in the city's schools will undoubtedly be felt, he said.
The movement from the city to the base housing area, which is expected to stabilize by June, is affecting all city elementary schools according to observations being made by Asst. Superintendent R. L. Fredstrom.

—That the pupil attend his last semester and finish his graduation requirements in the school from which he expects to graduate.
—That a pupil who cannot attend a high school during his last semester, but who has previously attended a public high school in the city, may be permitted to graduate from that high school upon the recommendation of that senior high school principal and the superintendent of schools.

City Air Authority Still Waits For Study Report From FAA

By Virgil Falloon
The Lincoln Airport Authority has had no word from the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) on the requested study of the city's airport situation.
Chairman Leo Beck Jr. told Authority members at Tuesday's meeting that "all material has been sent to Washington, but there's been no word from the FAA."
Beck said he may be able to get a progress report later this week, but if not, "we should see about expediting the matter."
The FAA has been asked by the Authority to determine whether the Lincoln Air Force Base can be developed for both commercial and private aircraft or whether a new municipal airport should be built to accommodate private or commercial aircraft, or both.

Effect Unknown
Authority members said they didn't know what effect the announced transfer of a tanker squadron (20 aircraft and some 580 men) from LAFB would have on the municipal airport situation.
However, one member, who has favored joint use of the LAFB by the city, commented: "It will mean less air traffic."

Union L&S Assets Make $778,000 Hop

Assets of the Union Loan and Savings Association increased $778,549 or more than 7% during 1959, it was announced at the annual stockholders meeting Tuesday.
Assets now total $11,814,615.
The Reserve Fund has been increased by 10.4% to a total of $1,115,025, stockholders were informed.
Savings and investments increased $691,217 or more than 7% to a new high of $10,339,630.
The number of loans made during 1959 amounted to a total of $2,665,750.
In viewing the coming year, stockholders were told that factors which present an optimistic picture include the high level of business activity, record personal income, favorable stock market credit, and deterrents to a "bear market."
The minus factors include high money rates, labor-management disputes, possible reduced defense spending, and declining farm incomes.
Charles N. Cadwallader was re-elected director.
Officers for the coming year: Fred Langseth, president; K. D. King, secretary; Max Meyer, vice president; Charles N. Cadwallader, treasurer; Emma Bahls, assistant secretary, and Hans T. Akeson, controller.

8 Children Taken Out Of 'Filthy' Home By Police

Eight children ranging in age from 1 to 11 were taken from the custody of their mother and placed with a relative Tuesday after police said they found the mother's home was "filthy" and filled with trash.
The mother will be brought into Juvenile Court Jan. 22 on a child neglect petition to answer for the home conditions, a spokesman said. The custody of the children will be reviewed at that time.
A juvenile official said a search of the home revealed a cereal bowl filled with worms and that the smell in the home, which is located several blocks north of O St. near 23rd, was "unbearable." The children's mother is divorced.

by the Authority to determine whether the Lincoln Air Force Base can be developed for both commercial and private aircraft or whether a new municipal airport should be built to accommodate private or commercial aircraft, or both.

Both ice and fog plagued air traffic operations after New Year's Day. Harr said United Air Lines closed down for 4 or 5 days because the Air Base runway was "solid ice." However, Frontier Air Lines landed on a "short runway."
The heavy fog during the past two days has curtailed operations because the "glide slope" on FAA instrument landing equipment is out.
Harr said the FAA estimates about 3 weeks will be required to put it in operation. "It was out when it was needed most," he noted.
Harr also reported the State Aeronautics Department is making a new beacon light available for Union Municipal Airport to replace an obsolete beacon for which parts are unavailable.

Union Has Loss
The Authority's operating statement for the first 6 months in the 1959-60 fiscal year showed that the Terminal Building has an operating net income of $6,841.07 while the Union Airport showed an anticipated loss of $6,674.27.
Terminal Building income was $17,089.00 against $10,247.93 in expenses. Union Airport had operating income of $7,282.03 and expenses of $13,956.30.
City Treasurer Frank Miller, ex-officio treasurer for the Authority, reported it has $140,000 invested in government notes. This included $59,312.40 recently invested from tax funds received in the 1959 Authority levy of one mill.

Games Site At Robin Mickle Gets Approval

A Robin Mickle Junior High School site improvement was approved by the Board of Education Tuesday.
The development plans provide for the leveling of an area approximately 300' by 600' east of the school now under construction, to be used for recreational facilities including 3 softball and a baseball diamond.
The Board also announced it will sell 8 acres of adjacent land to the east, which slopes westward.
The $1.25 million school is expected to be completed by next fall.
J. Arthur Danielson will represent the Board at mid-year graduation exercises of the Adult High School which will be held at 8 p.m. Jan. 28, in the Public Schools Administration Building auditorium.
The Board announced that the Davis and Wilson architectural firm has been selected to design the 4th unit of Meadow Lane Elementary School.
The selection was made on the basis of the board's preferred policy of hiring the architect who designed the first units, according to Robert Ammon, chairman of the architectural committee.

Sen. Kennedy Not Able To Make Talks

... Had Omaha Plans
Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts has cancelled a slate of appearances scheduled in Omaha Jan. 27.
Conflicting hearings of a Senate labor sub-committee necessitated the cancellation, Nebraskaans — for — Kennedy spokesmen announced Tuesday night.
State Sen. Hans Jensen of Aurora, Kennedy's Nebraska chairman, was quick to point out that the cancellation "does not alter any plans to enter the state's primary."
Efforts will be made to schedule Kennedy appearances in Nebraska this February, he said.
The senator, who has not yet announced his expected plans to enter the primary May 10, was to have spoken before a 5-state implement dealers convention in Omaha.
Petitions containing names sufficient to place Kennedy's name on the Nebraska ballot were to have been presented to the senator at a South Omaha rally the same night.
Jensen said petitions would probably now be placed in Kennedy's hand in February.
He has until March 11 to make an affirmative decision.

Status Quo And Changes

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In two successive weeks the City Council has acted on controversial issues with clarity and determination. One of the most frustrating things about almost any government is the slowness with which it operates. Long debate and indecision over matters are not a healthy thing but have often been a part of local government. This destroys the public's confidence in its elected public officials.

But this was not the case last week when the Council acted on the proposed Sunday closing ordinance, killing the law by a one-sided seven-to-nothing vote, and this week when the Council voted six to one against any expansion in retail liquor outlets. In both of these actions the Council left conditions in the city as they are and there can be little real argument against either action. While the other side of things may have had some merit, there was no conclusive demand for a change. But the most impressive thing was the manner in which both issues were handled. There was no needless delay or debate and this is a good sign that the Council may be of a mind to move with force and vigor in constructive leadership within the community.

One of the changes in the community this week provides good cause for such a Council approach. This change was the announced transfer in June of the 583-man 307th Air Refueling Sgdn. from the Lincoln Air Force Base to Selfridge AFB, Mich. This will mean a substantial drop in the present $20 million annual LAFB payroll.

Obviously, this is not something about which the city would be very happy. On the other hand, it need not and is not likely to be any kind of disaster. For one thing, Pentagon officials have noted that the loss will be more than made up by some 700 missilemen and supporting personnel expected to man Atlas ICBM bases in the area within the next few years.

Developments such as this should not be too much of a shock. There is probably no single thing in the nation more in a state of constant change than is the military. New type bombers are coming along to replace the B47's now used at the Lincoln base and the B52's found in the rest of SAC's complement. At the same time, procedures for defense are always being studied with the hope for improvement. And missiles are playing a more and more important role.

As the entire defense of the nation moves forward, Lincoln should expect to be disrupted from time to time if it is a part of this defense and it is a part so long as the SAC base is located here. What this means is that the Lincoln base should not necessarily be considered a part of the hard economy of the community, just as some of the larger industries are not dependable for all eternity.

New production techniques, marketing ideas and products are constantly shifting the needs and desires of industry. A community must adjust to these things by accepting the losses they bring about and working to take advantage of the opportunities they offer. For these changes and new concepts are a two-way street.

Where they may put you on the outside so far as one industry is concerned, they might give you the inside track on another. Certainly, the growing emphasis on research and science should tend to favor Lincoln with the University of Nebraska here and the coming Kellogg Center for Continuing Education. A little of this was discussed by E. N. Thompson, vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, when he discussed the impact of the loss of the Air Base squadron.

"This news," said Mr. Thompson, "points up the need for all Lincolinites to close ranks and strive for economic development along other lines. Under new Chamber administration, plans toward this objective are being developed."

Certainly, a strong and determined city administration fits in well with this kind of an approach. It is not an approach which calls for timidity or procrastination. It calls for development of an imaginative plan of action and an energetic pursuit of the objectives which are established.

Therefore, there are two factors minimizing the economic effects of the departure of the refueling squadron. One is the substitution of the missile base complement of men and the other is what shows promise of being a more dynamic and successful approach to new industrial acquisitions for the city. This should give us the heart to swallow what admittedly is a pretty bitter pill.

Need For Bold Approach

High Wide And Handsome

The current Monthly Review of the Tenth Federal Reserve District, of which Nebraska is a part, sees no brightness in 1960 for agriculture.

It summed up its forecast by saying: "Cash receipts from farm marketings are likely to be moderately lower this year . . . If the trend in costs continues upward . . . net income also is likely to be somewhat lower than last year's levels."

The time is steadily approaching when the nation will have to face up to dangerous reality. There is a limit to how much of a decline agriculture can absorb and the problem is not going to go away.

Concurrently with the Federal Reserve's survey, the U.S. Department of Agriculture published curves of farm output trends since 1910. Technology and more intensive farming have produced an unremitting ratio of increase which if projected to 1960 would have been equal to one and a half times as much per acre as in 1910. But from 1937 the production curve broke upward again until 1959 production was actually twice that of 1910. And the most dramatic jump in production occurred since 1955 when Benson policies of falling support prices and less planting control got under full steam.

This caused the Des Moines Register to observe that "it is obvious that a drastic decline in farm income will occur if nothing is done to restrain this upsurge in production," which is to say that the trouble is ceasing to be one confined to the welfare of the farmer and is rapidly growing into a national problem.

Making Tighter Money

The complexities of federal fiscal policy do not usually fall within the field of the average voter, therefore, in a specific sense the subject does not lend itself influentially to national elections. Such an issue is too obscure to arouse public feeling.

It is not to be expected in the coming months that the Eisenhower administration will be examined critically for what it has done in the way of managing the national debt and the day-to-day procurement of money by which the government is financed. But suffice to say that the Treasury department is heavily in the short term money market at interest rates that are shockingly high and getting higher. Such visible economies as the administration is seeking to demonstrate in its legislative budget is only the first stage of a futile act of shoveling economy in the front window and right out again the back window in the form of high priced debt service.

It would be too impudent to ask any administration to confine itself to what is called "net" economy, which is the only kind that benefits the taxpayer or forms anything more than a facade. But it is not improper to note one of the weird reactions resulting from the federal treasury assuming the role of pacemaker in high interest rates.

Some months ago the State of Nebraska began jerking idle funds out of Nebraska banks in order to experience the richer rewards to be had from short term federal issues.

Lately, the State of Illinois switched 40 per cent of its maneuverable funds to treasury issues albeit that state is receiving 2½ per cent on time deposits in private banks.

Short range thinking can argue that it is smart to pick up a windfall in high federal interest rates. But what is actually taking place is a flood of lendable capital out of the states with the proportionate impairment in the development of the resources of those states.

Fourth District Confusing

According to the Scottsbluff Star-Herald, the Fourth Congressional District race could well be settled by one issue—the vote of present Rep. Donald McGinley on the Landrum-Griffin labor bill. For if his opponent, Monroe Bixler, wins the race it will be because he has carried the record of this vote into every county in the district.

This is a little confusing from two points of view. For one, it is difficult to understand such an avid interest in western Nebraska in the status of big labor. Such concern is hard enough to understand in Lincoln and Omaha but how it can extend to Scottsbluff is almost beyond comprehension. Not that this area of the state would be any less concerned over the morality involved in the issue than would people anywhere but the labor problem would not seem to be nearly as significant in the Fourth District as it would be in major industrial areas.

It is true that Rep. McGinley first voted against the Landrum-Griffin bill but this was because he would have preferred to use the House Labor Committee bill which could have been amended in section-by-section consideration as a tool to curb abuses. McGinley's negative vote was cast in a round of parliamentary maneuvering when it was being determined which bill would be the vehicle on which a final decision was made. Then, like many other senators and representatives, he voted for the bill when it became a matter of it or nothing at all. Part of what McGinley opposed was the transfer of certain responsibilities in the field of labor-management relationships from the federal government to the states when the states, including Nebraska, had no organization or law with which to assume and care for this responsibility.

The law thus substituted no control whatsoever for whatever limited federal control there had been. If opposition to this is opposition to the correction of corruption and mobsterism in the labor movement, as the Star-Herald editorial would have us believe, then we are badly confused. Also, McGinley was for the House Labor Committee bill which would have controlled gangsterism in the labor movement in the same way as Landrum-Griffin but would have approached in a different manner the separate treatment of labor-management relationships which has so erroneously been lumped in with control of labor abuses.

Latin America Looks To Mateos

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson aren't the only North Americans going to South America this winter. President Lopez Mateos of Mexico is going to beat both of them, leaving on an extended trip January 14.

This punctuates the fact that, 13 months after taking office as a little-known bureaucrat, Lopez Mateos of Mexico has become Latin America's No. 1 international figure. And by an odd twist, the U.S. and Soviet governments did most to put him in this position.

First, President Eisenhower went to see him in Acapulco last February. Then Lopez Mateos returned the visit in Washington, where he was the first head of state to be briefed personally by Ike on what took place during the talks with Khrushchev.

Following this, Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan made a trip to Mexico—the first time a top-drawer Kremlin functionary had called on a Latin-American president and the first to receive an official invitation to Russia.

Thus Lopez Mateos emerged as the one public figure in the western hemisphere being actively cultivated by the world's two great rival powers. Immediate result: eight South American presidents sent Lopez Mateos formal bids to be their guests.

His three-week trip will include six republics—Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia, Chile and Peru. Colombia and Ecuador will be visited in April.

What the invitations signify is not only tacit acknowledgment of Lopez Mateos' own leadership, but also a salute to the recognized status of Mexico as Latin America's most stable nation today—politically, economically, and socially.

The country is booming. New industry and personal income are on the rise. Inflation has been held within manageable bounds. Though firmly anti-communist (as demonstrated by last spring's crackdown on a Red-led railway strike and expulsion of two Soviet diplomats charged with fomenting it), the Mexican government just as staunchly protects freedom of speech and assembly.

There are no racial or class problems in Mexico, and Lopez Mateos' administration is launched on a massive program to raise living standards and educational opportunities. Finally, Mexico's championing of nonintervention in Pan-American affairs has brought praise from all over the Americas.

Primaries Offer The Hardest Way

WASHINGTON—Candidates who try to win a presidential nomination by the state-primary route follow an almost predestined course.

Once they start on this anything but primrose path, it is difficult to stop and almost impossible to turn back.

The story is currently being acted out by Senators John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey. Both are announcing heavy winter schedules, directed chiefly at the same targets. The toll on their energy, time and money will be enormous. They confront pitfalls dug as often by friends as by enemies.

But they are committed. They have said that nobody is for them but the people, and they have set out to prove it. The catch is that they can't prove it once and relax; they are under pressure to prove it in virtually all states holding primaries.

Such candidates look to the primaries because they must. They begin without the sustaining base of a big rich state, a great national reputation or the support of powerful party leaders. They have certain limitations based on considerations of an emotional impact. These limitations may be geographical, racial or religious, or some combination of all three.

What working politicians actually think of presidential primaries is no secret; they detest them. They are chancy and expensive in every sense. One adverse state verdict can ruin an aspirant, as Wisconsin did Wendell Willkie in 1944. But because many voters are emotionally convinced that primaries are fairer and more Democratic few elected officials will attack them publicly.

Few men have taken the primary route with as much cold calculation and determination as has Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts. His well-financed effort is just getting into high gear with the yielding to him of the Ohio delegation by a governor, Mike DiSalle, who frankly did not care to risk a popularity contest with him.

The senator is now working hard on Florida, his special target being his old friend, Senator George Smathers, who now expects to be Florida's favorite son. Thus far Smathers is standing pat, and he has firmly declared that Florida will not yield in the Ohio manner to the threat of a race by Kennedy alone.

Should other candidates—Humphrey, for example—decide to make Florida a battleground, Smathers would apparently give them all his blessing and wave them on. It is doubtful that the Minnesota senator, famous as a champion of civil rights, would care to enter a southern state, but he has still to say no, positively.

In early February Kennedy will attend a western state conference of Democrats in Albuquerque. A persistent rumor is that his major effort there will be an attempt to persuade Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown of California that the Ohio-DiSalle pattern is best for Brown and California. Brown has openly posted "no-trespassing" signs, but the weakness of his position is that he clings to his pose of favorite son, refusing to admit he may be a serious candidate.

MARQUIS CHILDS

World Ponders Nazi Ghost

WASHINGTON—In the few hours that they spent together last month in Paris Chancellor Adenauer raised with President Eisenhower one of the subjects that has plagued the relationship between West Germany and the United States. That is the German demand to restore some $400,000,000 in the assets of German nationals seized at the outbreak of World War II.

It is a measure of Adenauer's concern—and the pressure on him from the industrialists involved—that he should devote a part of the all-too-limited time with the President to this question. Once, at least, the administration recommended that all the claimants, including the large industrialists, be repaid out of funds to be voted by Congress.

Later a compromise was put forward under which those with claims of $10,000 and under would be compensated in cash. This would have taken care of 92 per cent of all German losses and would have covered the genuine hardship cases. But the Bonn government rejected the compromise.

The whole business is enormously complicated, with American war damage claims set over against the German demand for restitution of assets. The largest German company involved, the General Aniline Dye Corporation, with its counterpart, the great cartel, I. G. Farben, is complicated by a claim of Swiss ownership.

The concern of the chancellor, who has just celebrated his 84th birthday, reflects the desire that has dominated the 10 years during which he has presided over the restoration of a flourishing and prosperous Germany. This is, above all, the desire to put back everything as it was before the nightmare of Nazism brought on the holocaust of the second world war.

It is the profound belief of a "good German" that Nazism was a tragic aberration; an accident of history that cannot be blamed on the German people themselves. But in the rush to restore the good past, the curtain has been tightly pulled down on the bad years when the greatest organized crime in the history of mankind was being committed.

All this is now painfully pointed up by the anti-Semitic incidents that have so troubled Adenauer and responsible Germans everywhere. An effort has been made to teach the generation coming of age in West Germany what Nazism, with its underlying poison of anti-Semitism, meant. This was part of required courses in the schools.

But it came at the end of the term and somehow there never seemed time in most classes to cover this topic. It was as though the German conscience simply could not endure the weight of such a monstrous record. In the same way in the late 'thirties, when the concentration camps began to operate full blast, most Germans preferred to shut their eyes to what was happening. Interrogated after the war, Germans living in the immediate vicinity of these camps could say with seeming honesty that they did not know what was going on in them.

The government in Bonn is making a determined effort—so far without success—to show that the incidents in Germany and elsewhere were inspired and perhaps engineered by Communist agents. No greater damage to Germany's position in the world could be imagined, since it raises all the old troubling doubts about the future. So if this is the work of organized Communism it is one more proof of the diabolical design of that conspiracy.

But the effort to place the blame on Communism is itself disquieting, since it suggests the desire to find an acceptable scapegoat which will, in turn, absolve the Germans of responsibility. Polls taken in Germany in recent years have revealed the existence of latent anti-Semitism and the rejection of any feeling of guilt for the crimes committed by the Nazis.

The question inevitably arises as to whether the German past has not been too quickly restored and all the gaping cracks in the old structure papered over with rhetoric of good intentions. The German industrialists have been fantastically successful and one evidence is the bulging balance of excess foreign exchange, which gives the Bonn government a dominant position in Europe today. Washington is currently exerting pressure on Bonn, thus far with no response, to get Germany to help in the effort to build the underdeveloped countries.

Congress is most unlikely, in the current mood of public opinion, to approve the restitution of assets to the German corporations. Deep emotions are involved, with the charge that Farben was one of the companies that used Nazi slave labor. This can be put down as only one consequence, and perhaps the least important, of the new doubts arising over an ally essential to western unity.

Then And Now

Beatrice, Neb.

Today's teenagers have so many temptations via radio, TV, autos, picture shows, etc., that there is absolutely no comparison with the old horse-and-buggy days of yesterday when the most you could do was drive six or seven miles to church on Sunday, then the drive home with Old Dobin taking his own sweet time.

Your name and reputation were considered scarred if you strayed from the straight and narrow path and you were the talk of the grapevine telegraph until the camp meetings came along and the revivals when you made your peace with God and started life anew.

By the way, the session in the woodshed and stern parental discipline and morning and evening worship in the home all had something to do with it. Today's teenagers have such a variety of choices that it is next to impossible to control them. There are always the few who are just plain no good, but a rotten apple in a barrel of good ones will eventually destroy the whole barrel. Mostly, though, it is the lack of discipline in the home. An army will never be a success if every soldier wants to run it. The same applies to lack of order in government.

Few of the youngsters of today would walk the number of miles some of those of yesterday did to get their education. Now they have to have a car, a checkbook and all that goes with it if they go to college, many of whom go just for the thrills and a chance of getting a life partner.

JOSEPH M. HIATT

Nation's Softness

Lincoln, Neb.

Nixon's recent steel settlement amplified the fact that many Americans apparently accept the idea that they shouldn't have to work hard; their preference is to get by with the least effort and to demand progressively higher pay for progressively less work.

Throughout America farmers are paid for not farming, railroad firemen are paid to tend non-existent fires, musicians are paid for not playing, and men everywhere are paid for watching machines that do not need watching. What has happened to the self-respect of these people who accept pay for little or no work? The plain answer is that union leaders sooth the workers' consciences (and I use the term loosely) with a circuitous reasoning that would stun a Sophist. In other words, it appears that immortality exalted ceases to be immortality. Conspiring with and reinforcing this union attitude is the governmental philosophy of our time.

So much for causes. The effects are also evident with increasingly painful clarity. Frequently shoddy workmanship, crippling strikes for whimsical reasons, inflation—but most important of all, the erosion of values once held high.

If there is softness in America today, it is not primarily inferior education or "inadequate" public spending, but this union and statist-sponsored philosophy of indolence. Will our nation's future continue to be jeopardized by ignoring this serious defect? I feel it will depend upon (1) whether or not the people themselves reform their morals, and (2) whether or not the Republicans return to the White House.

Social Security?

The stooped old man had retired from teaching after 20 years because of age, but before the regents and other state departments had adopted the social security program. The professor had written a textbook on his favorite subject but, characteristically, that had brought small payment. Out of his meager salary he had raised and educated a son and a daughter, both gone away and struggling to keep their growing families. He had bought and paid for a humble frame home in what is now a fading section in Lincoln. That and a few war bonds constituted his sole estate.

He tried to write insurance but not successfully. His wife baked bread for sale until rheumatism halted her domestic activities. Taxes and utilities cost an average of $42 per month and medical costs are about half that much. The bonds have been cashed and the automobile sold for a pittance. Lodge and club memberships have been suspended; only church remains.

This old couple of around 80 years of age still have a remnant of pride that has, so far, kept them from accepting old age assistance with a consequent lien against their beloved old home. Their life expectancy is probably short, but certainly is dark. They have paid nothing into social security and by that token can make no demands against that governmental fund.

There are a great many similar cases, differing in degree only, in Lincoln and other college communities of men and women who have given the best of their lives to public welfare with little thought to making money. The social security act is not true to its name if security is denied and social self-respect is ruined for such worthy senior citizens, bankrupt through inflation.

My 4-year-old son feeds birds. He does it when I am not looking. Because his idea of feeding birds is to take his left-over breakfast and dump it in the middle of the patio. It lies there as a soggy milk-and-corn flake mess.

I do not wish to discourage this child in his sunny love for our feathered friends. But I slipped on a fried egg the other morning and like to bust a leg.

"Birds do not eat eggs! Take out the nice toast crumbs."

Well, this makes no sense to him. HE eats eggs. So why not birds?

I have explained to this boy time and time again.

"You see when the days get longer and there is more light, the light sets off an impulse in the hypothalamus of the bird's brain. This causes the bird to LAY eggs."

"That is why we have chicken eggs to eat. Like the one you dumped and nearly broke your Daddy's leg."

The boy is not with it. He does not know a hypothalamus from a Tinker Toy set. Neither do I. But I read a lot of scientific things and try to keep up with the world.

I think we should get another budgie. He could feed the budgie and talk to it. The patio is a mess and will probably draw raccoons.

A budgie is a good bird to have around the house. When we had a budgie (my daughter was calling with him around the neighborhood one day and she fell down a hill and the cage broke open and the budgie took off).

When we had this budgie, we fed him on some kind of walkie-talkie bird seed. The seed store man said it made a budgie chatter like a congressman on tour before election.

However, the budgie never said a blooming word to any of us.

He may have talked to himself. But he did it at night. Or sometime when he would not break his record for dumpying up.

He was a clean bird and did not scatter the seeds. He drank water from a little water cup. Once I poured in a little champagne—it was New Year's and I wanted him to have a ball. Maybe join in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

He put away the champagne. But only grew more sullen. One of those birds who get belligerent when they drink.

A lot of people who owned budgies wrote to me. They told me how to get my budgie to talk.

"Budgies understand love and affection and will seldom talk until it is shown to them," a lady wrote to me. "Each morning I take my budgie from his cage and say, 'Good morning! Good morning! Good morning!' He then responds."

I took our budgie from the cage—I never really knew whether this was a gentleman budgie or a lady budgie. We called him "he" because his name was Bill. Our daughter was torn between "Clementine" and "Bill." Bill won. Otherwise our budgie would have been "she."

Anyway, I took Bill from his cage and said: "Good morning! Good morning! Good morning!" I put love and affection in it.

He just looked at me with a beady eye. Then he took a sip of water. (I took him off champagne after that New Year's and never even gave him a beer.)

He did not say a word. So I said to him: "Good morning, you sullen ——" Well, I cannot tell you what I said. It was mainly talk. After all it was between men.

When this bird (and my daughter) fell down the hill and our relationship ended,

I found everybody spoke highly of this silent bird.

My daughter wept and I talked emotionally of his good points.

She spoke of his cheery disposition. It was like a lively wake.

The only good thing I saw about that bird—and it only occurred to me lately: We did not have to put food out on the patio for him. Especially fried eggs and milk and cornflakes.

Ruling Given On Truck Half-Year Fee Payments

The Nebraska attorney general's office Tuesday clarified the law pertaining to payments of truck or truck-tractor fees by the half-year.

The extra fee to cover the cost of issuing certificates and plates to a person paying registration fees by the half-year should be collected at the time of payment of the second half of the fee, Asst. Atty. Gen. Cecil S. Brubaker said in the opinion.

The opinion was requested by Alvin N. Scissors, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Fertilizer, Element Needs Discussed At Meeting

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

A discussion of fertilizer and trace elements needed to produce high crop yields was held Tuesday in Lincoln at the 10th annual Fertilizer Dealers Training Conference.

More than 300 persons representing the industry from Nebraska and adjoining states heard industry leaders report that Nebraska farmers are using less than one-eighth the amount of phosphorus and only about one-half the amount of nitrogen required for top yields according to soil tests made in the state.

Zinc was recognized as the most extensively deficient trace element for major crop production in the state in a panel discussion moderated by Dr. R. A. Olson, professor of agronomy at the College of Agriculture.

The need for more soil testing in relation to the application of required fertilizer was urged by Clinton A. Hoover, extension agronomist.

Few Soil Samples

Hoover reported that only an estimated one-fourth of the land where fertilizer is used has had soil samples taken by the farmers.

Hoover said, "A tremendous educational job in promoting soil tests is needed."

For maximum efficiency with the use of fertilizer soil tests are a must, according to Hoover.

Dr. Leon Chesnin, associate professor of agronomy at College of Agriculture recommended that for most efficient application zinc should be plowed down before corn planting.

Sales Outlook Good

The 1960 outlook for fertilizer sales was described as excellent despite lower prices received by farmers for crops, according to A. H. Stephenson, Consumers Cooperative Assn. of Kansas City, Mo.

From the bankers standpoint Robert Voss, vice president of the First National Bank of Fremont said, "We think fertilizer is one of the best investments a farmer can make and even with the tight money situation we will endeavor to take care of our farmers' needs in our community."

A highlight of the conference Wednesday will be a panel discussion on "Food and Drug Tolerances and the Use of Agricultural Chemicals" which will be moderated by Dr. E. F. Frolik, associate director of the Agricultural Experimental Station at the College of Agriculture.

The third annual Nebraska Fertilizer, Machinery and Chemical exposition is being held in connection with the conference.

Henry Amen Again Seeks Sanitary Post

Henry J. Amen, 83, chairman of the Sanitary District board of trustees, filled Tuesday for a re-election as trustee for a 4-year term on the Republican ticket.

Amen has served on the board since 1943, and most of these years as chairman.

He is the first incumbent to file for re-election so far. Other trustees, whose terms are expiring are George A. Knight and J. Max Harding.

Harding, a practicing Lincoln attorney, said he would file Wednesday for re-election on the Republican ticket.

He has paid his filing fee, but had not completed the filing with the Election Commissioner.

Harding has served on full term on the board and previously filled an unexpired term.

Knight, a University Place banker, has filed for a seat in the State Legislature and cannot be a candidate for re-election to the Sanitary District board.

Carry-over board members are Hal W. Bauer, an attorney, and D. T. Fenton, a manufacturer's representative. Bauer is a Democrat and Fenton a Republican.

Dog Gone, Tots Want Poach Back

"Where, oh, where?" was the question of 3 Lincoln tots Tuesday as their mother tried vainly to get their dog back.

In an apparently hasty decision, the dog was taken to the Humane Society, where it was immediately taken to an interested party in Waverly.

Mrs. Eugene Foreman, 3005 So. 42nd, called a number of Waverly residents Tuesday in an effort to locate the dog.

Two Foreman boys, 3 and 4, and a 20-month-old daughter, are anxiously awaiting the return of their dog.

If Elected Newell Will Back Winner Of State Primary

R. C. Newell of Lincoln indicated Tuesday that he would support the winner of Nebraska's presidential primary if he is elected a delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Newell thus becomes the fourth of 16 delegate candidates to commit himself to the primary winner.

The Lincolnite is seeking a First District seat at the convention.

"As long as it appears that the choice of the people of our state has a chance in the convention, I expect to follow their wishes," Newell said.

Jacobson And Johnson Seek Re-Election

Lincoln Municipal Judges John Jacobson and Richard O. Johnson have filed for re-election to 4-year terms.

The two incumbents are the only candidates to file so far for the two posts. Four candidates may be nominated in the May primary and two elected in the November general election.

Judge Jacobson, 68, is completing his second term. He also served nearly one year in 1952 of the unexpired term of Judge Edward C. Fisher.

He was assistant municipal judge from 1928 to 1945, served 4 years as city attorney, and was on the state attorney general's staff for 4 1/2 years.

Judge Johnson, 65, formerly mayor from 1941 to 1943, is completing his first term on the municipal bench. He was elected in 1956.

Johnson has also served on the City Council from 1937 to 1941 and was a state legislator from 1927 to 1931.

Both judicial posts are non-partisan offices.

All Operations Increase 10% At Provident

The Provident Savings and Loan Assn., reported at its annual meeting Tuesday that all operations showed a 10% increase in 1959.

The boost was reported in assets, savings, investment accounts and real estate loans.

The association had reserves of approximately 7% of savings and investment accounts or approximately 8% of real estate loans, according to F. B. Sidles, president.

Sixteen per cent of its assets were held in cash or government bonds, Sidles said.

He forecast an excellent business year for 1960.

"Personal income should touch new highs," Sidles noted, "with consumer expenditure expanding accordingly."

While housing starts might decline slightly, the year will still be one of the best post-war building years, he said.

Phil L. Sidles was elected director for a 5-year term. Holdover directors are F. B. Sidles, W. H. Howey, Carl W. Olson, Jesse L. Williams and Raymond H. Walker.

Officers are F. B. Sidles, president; W. H. Howey, vice president, and Phil L. Sidles, secretary-treasurer.

DeBrown Heads New Car Dealers

J. Wallace DeBrown was elected president of the Lincoln New Car Dealers Assn. at the organization's annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Floyd Randolph, vice president and Bob Ring, secretary-treasurer.

2 Subdivisions To Add 600 Lincoln Homes

Two subdivision developments which will eventually add 600 homes to the Lincoln area are scheduled as the major projects for 1960 by the Peterson Construction Co.

Plans to begin construction of a 188-acre development near Veterans Hospital were disclosed by Ervin Peterson, company president, at the firm's annual meeting.

At the same time construction of homes on a 40-lot tract bounded by So. 35th and 37th and Sewell and Smith will be started according to Peterson.

20-Acre Lake Planned

The 188-acre project, Wedgewood Manor, planned as a horseshoe-shaped acreage north, east and south of Veterans Hospital, will include a 20-acre lake for use by future homeowners, and an adjacent swimming pool.

Peterson said several of the lots facing O St. will be reserved for business places. Homes in the subdivision are expected to be priced in the $19,000 and up bracket.

Medium-priced homes of $14,000 to $19,000 are to be built on the 40-lot tract in south Lincoln.

Peterson said the company plans to build about 150 homes this year with about half of them in the $8,500 to $9,000 range.

In 1959, a year described by Peterson as "excellent during the first half and good the second half," the company built about 100 homes.

Other plans for this year call for construction of 20 more houses in the company's Wahoo development.

Peterson was re-elected company president. Other officers elected were Ralph Peterson, vice president and Harold Stranathan, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Gedwillo Is Elected Goodwill Auxiliary Head

Mrs. John Gedwillo was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries at the group's annual meeting Tuesday.

Other new officers include Mabel Clements, vice president; Mrs. Howard Morgan, recording secretary; Mrs. Clark Wilson, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John Campbell, treasurer.

Elected to chairmanships for the coming year are Arthur Rausch and Mrs. Frank McKie, membership; Dorothy Seip, publicity, and Mrs. Albert Crom, hospitality.

JAYCEES HONOR COUNTY FARMER

Wayne Fisher Honored As Outstanding Young Farmer

By Glenn Kreuscher
Staff Farm Writer

Wayne Fisher of Malcolm was named Outstanding Young Farmer of Lancaster County by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon Tuesday.

Fisher is 33, married and has three children. He farms a 400 acre diversified farm and feeds 75 steers and 100 hogs each year.

The Jaycee's credited him with being a leader in adopting modern farming practices and paid special tribute to his modern farm work shop that was equipped for year around repair work.

Breakdowns Costly

"Break downs can be costly and I like to be able to have my machinery in good working condition," said Fisher.

Fisher's degree of progress is most noteworthy according to Donald Leising, Jaycee's master of ceremonies.

Leising told Jaycee's that as a youth Fisher lost both of his parents and during his World War II days as a Marine in the South Pacific he was wounded and spent almost a year in the hospital.

Studied Phosphate

Among the noteworthy achievements in farming Fisher has just completed a 5 year program on phosphate study in cooperation with the Tennessee Valley Authority and under direction of the county extension office.

Emery Nelson, Lancaster county agent said, "Wayne Fisher is one of our most aggressive young farmers. He likes to try new things in agriculture and has offered his farm and time for testing and demonstration measures which have been of much value to his community."

Fisher has been active in community affairs. He is a member of the Malcolm Methodist Church where he serves as Sunday School superintendent. He is assistant fire chief for his local community and has been active in Farm Bureau.

Wife Proud

When advised of her husband's award Mrs. Fisher said, "I am very proud of Wayne, he is a wonderful father and husband."

It was a big week for Wayne in addition to receiving the Jaycee award his uncle, Mark Robinson of Petersburg, Va. came to visit him. It was the first time he had ever seen this uncle.

Winning the county award qualifies Fisher for entry in the state contest which will be at Schuyler on March 27. Vice-President Nixon will be the featured speaker at the state event.

Former Outstanding Farmers and their wives that joined the Jaycees to welcome this year's winner were: Mr. & Mrs. Donald Crawford of Roca; Mr. & Mrs. Donald Perry of Malcolm and Mr. & Mrs. Wallace E. Aberg of Lincoln.

R. V. Graff Again Heads Blizzard Club

R. V. Graff of Fremont was re-elected president of the Blizzard Club at the annual reunion of the group Tuesday.

Some 100 members of the Jan. 12, 1888, Blizzard Club gathered to recall memories of the great storm, one of the worst on record.

Graff, Robert B. Conrad, Gov. Brooks' administrative assistant, spoke at the noon luncheon which highlighted the day's activities.

Mrs. Paul Quinlan of Lincoln was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Charles M. Sutherland, also of Lincoln, who resigned.

All officers were re-elected. They include: Floyd Eberspacher of Seward, 1st vice president; Ernest Kime of Kennedy, 2nd vice president; W. A. Hahle of Aurora, 3rd vice president, and the Rev. Harold C. Sandall of Lincoln, chaplain.

Membership in the club includes men and women who want to preserve the history of the '88 storm, as well as those who witnessed it.

Firemen Cut Wax Can From Woman's Finger

Firemen came to the aid of a Lincoln woman who caught her finger in a can of wax Tuesday.

Mrs. Arthur H. Yost Jr. of 1900 So. 25th told firemen she tried for 30 minutes to free herself but could not do so. Firemen cut the can from around her finger, and reported she was not injured.

Why is the printed word so important in advertising?

IT'S CLEARER IT'S PERMANENT IT'S BELIEVABLE

ONE OF A SERIES

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER IS THE GREATEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM for many reasons. One of them is that it carries the power of the printed word. People believe in a message that is permanent; one that is written. They understand it better. Also, the newspaper because of its permanence lets the reader choose his own time for absorbing the message. And once put down it can always be picked up again. The message that lives is the message that is written in the newspaper.

THE LINCOLN STAR

Your Capital City MORNING Newspaper

Family Features

Dear Abby-- Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A very dear friend of mine who happens to be my neighbor presents a problem.

She borrows things and never returns them. Right now she has my vacuum cleaner, steam iron, portable record-player and electric mixer.

I didn't mind at first -- but she has kept these items for almost a year. She has the identical appliances, but hers are never in working order. Mine are beginning to get that battered look and will not withstand the wear and tear of two families much longer. How can I get her to return these things without hurting her feelings? She is very sensitive.

DOING WITHOUT

DEAR DOING WITHOUT: Unfortunately those who think nothing of borrowing things and keeping them indefinitely are the most "sensitive". There is no subtle, friendship-saving method of asking for the return of borrowed items. You must simply gather your courage and say, "May I have my things?" She might be slightly "hurt" but she'll heal as soon as she needs something again. And when she does, do not lend her anything while she still has something that belongs to you, or you'll be back where you started from.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that mother whose heart was breaking because she had a son in prison to quit feeling sorry for herself. MY HUSBAND was in prison and he came out a much better man than he was when he went in. I carried our 3-week-old baby 400 miles to visit him for only a few hours, and I did that once a month, every visiting period allowed. I wrote him as often as they would let him get mail and told him I was waiting faithfully for him.

Now that he's home he has worked steady, is saving his money and hasn't even had a beer. He won't answer the phone if one of the "old crowd" calls him. He appreciates his freedom, too. And believe me, he is going to keep it.

EX-CON'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who is fortunate enough to have a good home, wonderful parents, enough food and warm clothing and a little money of my own.

I would love to help some other child or children less fortunate than I am. I have many friends and neighbors who would love to contribute pennies, nickles and dimes. But after the collection is taken, where should I send the money? I want to give it to someone who really needs it. Could you please suggest someone to give it to?

JEANNETTE C.

DEAR JEANNETTE: Ask your teacher to discuss the various organized charities. "CARE" (for our destitute cousins overseas), Salvation Army, Red Cross, to name a few. You are even more fortunate than you think you are; you have learned early in life the secret of happiness -- sharing. Bless you!

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman at college and with my parents' permission I brought my boy friend home for Christmas. He is a junior at the same college.

I am five feet five (without heels). This boy is also five feet five. My mother kept saying, "He is SO short -- you can do better!" My father said, "Can't you find a taller boy friend?" My kid sister said, "What do you see in that sawed-off runt?" Abby, I love this fellow. He is kind, intelligent, ambitious and everything a girl could want. He's working his way through college. What do you say when people ask you what you see in a short guy?

LOVES A SHORT GUY
DEAR LOVE: Simply say, "He's not short on brains, intelligence, nor is he short on character. So get along and don't try to short-circuit my romance."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO FRIENDS": There are two kinds of people. Those who come into a room and say, "HERE I AM!" And those who come into a room and say, "THERE YOU ARE!" Which kind are you?

ASK-- Dorothy Draper

I have never been to art school and I do not regret it. I find I am aware of the beauty of color and have merely translated this into my own life and my business.

I remember flying out of the clouds over the beautiful harbor of Rio de Janeiro in the early morning. There was a chiffon-like mauve haze over the mountains with a rugged suggestion of the irregular coast line.

Later this memory turned into a room with sea-blue walls and ceiling, curtains of sky blue, and remembering the white caps, we painted the wood floor white, with a white washable area rug in front of the sofa. As the furniture was a mixed lot of different wood we painted it the same sea blue of the walls and covered the sofa in white chintz with bouquets of mauve violets. Study Mother Nature for color inspiration!

Mrs. E. H. Z. asks:
"I have a hall problem that is different. We own and live in a three-story brick apartment and the halls are spacious with rather high ceilings and I would like to give them a special treatment but am not sure of myself. At present the carpets are a figured gray green and we do not plan to replace them just now. What I want is to paint the lower floor a nice cool green, the second floor similar to attached sample, the third floor a real light green with all the ceilings a very light gray and the woodwork in the stairway a woodsy brown."

Dear Mrs. E. H. Z.:

I approve of the cool green first floor but I would prefer a pretty geraniumpink for the second floor instead of that salmon or whatever it was. Why not paint the third floor the same green as the first? But I would have white ceilings instead of the gray, and make the woodwork a shiny black instead of woodsy brown.

I think I'll take the space here today to say that many times my answer to a letter from someone else could solve your problem, so please read all the color schemes and suggestions and see if they wouldn't inspire a solution to your own question. One living room color scheme, for instance, may be just what YOU would like for your dining room etc. Keep your mind flexible, and do browse through the stores for ideas...and don't be afraid of color!

MISS JUDY JO DIXON

Wedding In Germany

MRS. SPENCER FOSTER LENHART

Clusters of lighted white candles and bouquets of white carnations and lilacs appointed ed the altar of the U.S. Army Post Chapel in Frankfurt, Germany, on Saturday, Jan. 9, for the marriage of Miss Ruth Gustafson, daughter of Mrs. Esther S. Gustafson of Lincoln, to Spencer Foster Lenhart, son of Mrs. Evelyn Y. Lenhart of Wyncote, Pa. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Lt. Col. Elwood L. Temple, post chaplain.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Robert M. Nelson of Frankfurt, who wore a sheath ensemble of bluish pink Italian-silk and carried pink carnations.

Richard P. Maguire of Bonn, Germany, served as best man, and seating the guests was Richard A. Lane, Frankfurt.

The bride's gown of ice blue lace over silk taffeta was fashioned in the after-five length. A scoop neckline accented the short-sleeved bodice, and the full skirt was slimmed at the waist by a tucked midriff of satin ending in a butterfly bow at the back. Her blue illusion veil was held by a bandeau of satin roses.

The couple will reside at Darmstadt, Germany.

A former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, the bride is teaching in the Frankfurt school for American dependents. Mr. Lenhart is a graduate of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., and is associated with the American Express Company in Frankfurt.

Her fiancée is attending Nebraska Wesleyan, and is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Town Talk

—Remember the afternoon of Tuesday, Jan. 12 -- the sun came out of hiding.

And with the sunshine, anaemic as it was, came news of courtesies for Miss Irene Uehling whose marriage to Chris B. Alexander will take place on Feb. 12.

The courtesy ball began rolling last Sunday when Mrs. Lee Stover, Mrs. Paul Maxwell and Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver, Jr., were hostesses at a 10:30 o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs. Stover. Following brunch Miss Uehling was presented with a personal shower.

On the calendar for the approaching Saturday evening is the part for which Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Shaffer will be host and hostess when they entertain in courtesy to Miss Uehling and her fiancé. Twenty-six guests have been invited for an informal evening and a kitchen shower.

—Complimenting Miss Uehling on Sunday will be Mrs. Donald Purvis and Mrs. O. V. Calhoun who have invited guests for an 11:30 o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs. Purvis. The bride-elect will be presented with a vice shower.

—Another of the courtesies for Miss Uehling will be the party and gadget shower for which Mrs. Goldie Waechter and her daughter, Miss Marilyn Waechter, will be hostesses when they entertain at their home on Friday evening, Jan. 22.

—Then we began wondering about parties for Miss Beverly Reed whose marriage to Lyndon Sikes will take place on Feb. 7. Our efforts were in vain since, so we learned, Miss Reed is careering in Anchorage, Alaska, won't be home until a few days before her wedding. Mr. Sikes has a position in Unalakleet, Alaska--up in the Nome region, in case you are curious.

But we do know of one courtesy--It is the prenuptial dinner at which Miss Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Reed, will preside when they are host and hostess at the University Club on Saturday evening, Feb. 6.

—A greeting this morning to Michael Christopher Lawlor who arrived at Lincoln General Hospital on Tuesday, Jan. 12. The baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lawlor which makes it entirely unnecessary to say that Mr. and Mrs. John Lawlor are the paternal grandparents--but we said it anyway. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Gorton of Tecumseh.

SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Never realized that so many offspring arrived during the month of January, but from the number of birthdays being celebrated in the suburb this month the facts seem pretty conclusive.

Take the A. T. Hinds family as a shining example--

This morning Mary Sue Hinds will celebrate her third birthday at a party for which Miss Cindy Wagner, Michael Schwartzman and Debbie Andelt will be guests at the Hinds home.

On Sunday, Sara Hinds was honored on her seventh birthday at an afternoon party. Joining in the fun were Marla Gibbs, Pam Dudley, Pegue Harlow, Connie Strnad, Judy Alles, Barbara Frankhauser and Debra DeRock.

And Thurman Hinds, Jr., was a sixth-birthday celebrant last Saturday when he was host to Jeff Knott, Keith Egan, Randy Wagner, Gus Luikart, Mike Dudley and Doug Shurtleff at an afternoon party.

Next Saturday, Jan. 16, Mark Darrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Darrington, will entertain eight friends at a party marking his fifth anniversary. The guest list will include Karen Supruno-wicz, Susan and Martha Bayley, Randy Walker, Kim Kuzelka, Bill and Jeff Bryant, and Mike Gloe.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Putting in her premier appearance at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Monday, Jan. 11, was Miss Barbara Ann Hahn. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine D. Hahn, and she has two sisters, Ramona and Pamela.

The young lady's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hahn, and Mrs. Chester Stutheit is the maternal grandmother. All are of Johnson. Understand that the grandparents plan to visit in Lincoln this week end.

Moving from their home at 1688 Ote last week were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil T. Renoe and their children, 13 year-old Brian and Toni, who is 14. The family, whose new address is 2606 So. 39, moved to Lincoln this winter from Canoga Park, Calif.

Law Wives

The members of the University of Nebraska Law Wives will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Electric Kitchen, 14th and O.

Opening lead -- eight of hearts.

Defense is not for the lazy. A declarer can relax, once he sees dummy, and let nature take its course in a hand that is obviously a pushover, but a defender cannot afford such a luxury.

This is because the defenders do not have the benefit of knowing each other's cards, whereas the declarer is fully aware of all his strong and weak points.

As a result, the defenders must indulge in considerable speculation as play proceeds. This requires an active imagination and close attention to the business at hand.

Let's suppose dummy ducks the heart lead and that East takes the king and returns a heart. Declarer leads a club. If East wins the ace and plays a heart, his suit becomes established, and it does him no good because he has no entry card. South makes four notrump after playing another club.

The same result obtains if West takes the first club lead. He has no heart to return, and any other lead permits declarer to make ten tricks.

But proper defense defeats the contract. East should let declarer win the heart lead at trick one. He assumes that South has Q-J-x of hearts, based on the bidding. He dismisses the possibility that declarer has Q-J-x, because the contract cannot be beaten if this is the case.

East also defends on the assumption that West has the king of clubs, because, if South has it, declarer has nine tricks in sight.

Both presumptions East makes illustrate the typical approach to defense. A holding is assumed that permits the contract to be broken. Defeatism has no place at the card table.

Once East ducks the heart lead, South is dead. Declarer wins the heart and the best he can do is lead a club. West grabs the king and leads another heart, forcing dummy's ace.

East's hearts are now established and he still has the ace of clubs. Declarer can cash seven tricks and run, or he can lead another club to produce the same result. Either way South goes down two.

CHATTER

—in the—

CORRIDOR

BY CAROL WILLIAMS of University High School

"We're from Uni and we couldn't be prouder!" The magic five, Weeks, Karnopp, Schafer, Hempel, and Vosika, have scored four wins in a row and meet Blair here Friday and Ralston on Saturday.

Last Friday to build team spirit a rally was given by the Pep Club officers and rally chairmen, Jill Merritt, Pat Munn, Donna Haake, Karen Foreman, Jeane Anderson, Shirley Hughes and Carol Williams. The skit about the bad rabbit that went down the hill and grabbed a Tutor mouse seemed to arouse even a chuckle from faculty members. The skit seemed very well rehearsed (?) and applied to the situation at hand.

Indirectly, supporting the team at basketball games, are the Junior Class and the National Honor Society with their concession sales. The Junior Class is selling everything from orange pop to peanuts, but the Honor Society believes in simplicity with the sale of apples. The juniors are striving for a bigger and better junior-senior banquet in May, I'm sure, while the Honor Society members want to pay the final payment on a school banner purchased last year.

What's this midnight oil burning at 6 o'clock a.m. in 313? No, it's just another deadline for those hardworking, aging and all-thought-out TUTOR staffers. Putting out an annual is a lot of fun but a lot of hard work and imagination. Miss Hockabout, the illustrious leader of the 313 clan, is a senior at the University, and no doubt is wondering why she ever decided to enter the teaching profession, and especially why try student teaching at Uni High. By popular opinion, we the TUTOR staff hereby dedicate our annual to her and her undying efforts. All kidding aside, the 1960 annual will be the greatest TUTOR ever published.

"Hour and a half finals? Of course, that's what I always wanted!" The administration is at it again, this time it's hour and a half finals similar to the system used at the University. Problems arose last year with teachers trying to beat the exam schedule and give finals the Thursday and Friday before exam week. Quite often it seemed like a person drew four or five finals the same day. Most of the comments towards this system have been favorable except for those nonconformists who think finals should be eliminated all together. Some people certainly do have weird ideas.

Now that the senior class officers are entirely elected it's time to go, go, go. This year's president is Bruce Weeks, vice president, Jerry Hutchison, secretary, Bob Fenner and treasurer, Don Schafer.

"Hark the herald angels shout, 'the semester is almost, just about out.'"

Why let excess weight shorten your life... ruin your appearance... hamper your success and happiness?

Now...losing weight is as easy as chewing gum!

REXALL SLIM-PAC

You simply chew a piece of pleasant-tasting Slim-Pac gum 15 to 20 minutes before each meal... your appetite is safely reduced... you're satisfied with less food, and ugly, dangerous pounds begin to melt away.

With SLIM-PAC you will easily and quickly accustom yourself to eating less than your body requires. This "under-eating" won't hurt you a bit. Your body will simply draw the food energy it needs from excess body fat—and YOU WILL BEGIN TO LOSE WEIGHT.

CHOOSE THE SLIM-PAC PLAN BEST SUITED TO YOU

Your wisest diet will deny only enough food to allow a weekly weight loss of 2 to 3 pounds. The correct diet for you depends upon how many calories you need to perform your daily routine. This varies according to age, sex, activities, height and actual overweight.

You get 3 suggested diets from which to choose, and you get to eat the foods you like. However, you should never decide on a stringent diet without first consulting your doctor. Slim-Pac gum will safely cause you to want less... and the multi-vitamin capsule will help maintain normal energy and pep!

NO "CRASH" DIETING... NO STARVING... NO RIGOROUS EXERCISE

It's foolish, and actually dangerous, to go through life misshapen, unattractive, short of breath, uncomfortable in our clothes, ashamed in public and miserable in private, while the success and happiness we should have slips through our pudgy fingers. SLIM-PAC makes it all so unnecessary... so safe, so easy to change, START TODAY on the life you were meant to have!

Did Sam's Shuffling Justify Arrest? — High Court Seeks Answer

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court and a lawyer for Louisville, Ky., went 'round and 'round Tuesday over whether Sam Thompson, an elderly Negro, did a shuffle dance when he stopped in a tavern to wait for a bus.

Questions from the bench, and lawyer Herman E. Frick's answers, kept the court in session past its usual quitting time.

The issue was whether two $10 fines, for loitering and disorderly conduct, could be made to stick since Kentucky law apparently doesn't permit an appeal to state courts on such small penalties.

Thompson, whose lawyer

State School Leaders Claim Shortage Of 521 Classrooms ... But No Districts Qualify For Federal Aid

Nebraska school superintendents say they have a shortage of 521 classrooms, but none would qualify for federal aid because of the U. S. Office of Education's definition of "shortage," Donald O. Bush, state director of school plant services, said Tuesday.

Bush said he has just been asked by L. G. Derthick, U. S. commissioner of education, how many districts had a shortage of classrooms, and his reply was that there are none which meet the federal definition.

Under the federal rule, a school district must have already borrowed money up to the state-imposed limit or otherwise be incapable within the law of providing more classrooms before its "shortage" is recognized.

The Nebraska debt limit for school districts is 40% of assessed valuation of the district, and none have approached this figure, Bush said. In many states the limit is lower, say around 15%.

To Program Aid

Derthick's question was for the purpose of programming federal aid to solve the classroom shortage, Bush said.

Nebraska superintendents, in their annual reports, said they have a collective shortage of 521 elementary and secondary classrooms. This will be reduced to 60 during the current school year by construction of 461 new classrooms, they reported.

But Bush said this picture is not quite as clear as it seems for two major reasons.

Many superintendents state they have a "shortage" of classrooms, but they fail to subtract from this the number of rooms in their district standing vacant.

Population Shift Cause

Vacant rooms are often caused by shifts of population. There may be fewer

Rites Held For Dr. Pennington

Broken Bow — Funeral services were held here for Dr. George E. Pennington, 85, prominent Custer County physician for 58 years.

First practicing in Anselmo in 1902, he moved to Broken Bow in 1908.

Surviving are his wife, Julie; daughters, Mrs. Marie Brewer of Ogallala, Mrs. Georgia Kear of Lincoln and Mrs. Pauline Boggs of Kearney; and one grandson, Dr. Allen Brewer of Phoenix, Ariz.

said he is in jail on another charge, contends Louisville policemen pick him up about every time they see him. He thinks they are irked because he once hired a lawyer to fight a disorderly charge.

Justice Whittaker asked: "Was it a violation of an ordinance when an old colored man goes into a beer hall, and is he guilty of loitering and disorderly conduct simply because he taps his foot to music as he waits for a bus on a cold winter night?"

"That's very dramatic," replied Frick, Louisville's lawyer. "But it doesn't take into account he was doing a shuffle dance."

"What is shuffle dancing?" demanded Justice Stewart.

Frick thought this over for a half minute, then gave a definition: "It's some form of dancing which uses a system of shuffling."

A packed courtroom roared, but white-faced Justice Frankfurter shouted: "Is shuffling illegal in Louisville?"

"No, sir," said Frick.

"But the tavern owner's license did not permit dancing."

"If a person went into a department store," asked Chief Justice Warren, "shuffled his feet, and made no purchase, would he be guilty of loitering?"

"Under certain circumstances," said Frick.

"Well," Warren shot back, "there certainly would be a lot of women in jail then."

The $10 disorderly fine was imposed on Thompson for arguing with the police outside the tavern.

"Do you put a man in jail for arguing with cops?" asked Warren.

Frick: "If there is sufficient evidence."

Justice Brennan wanted to know what Thompson's demeanor was when he argued, and questioned when argument could become disorderly conduct.

"You are making an argument now, aren't you?" Brennan asked Frick.

Apparently somewhat taken aback, Frick replied, "I hope so."

Warren wanted to know if Thompson had been arrested since Jan. 24, 1959, the time of the tavern incident. Frick said he had been nabbed 12 times.

Louis Lusky, attorney for Thompson, said "We don't claim Sam is the only outcast created by the Louisville police."

"From a police viewpoint," Lusky concluded, "it's men and women dancing together that creates problems."

— Oklahoma President Blasts NU Coach For Not Tattling In 1954 — JENNINGS RAPPED AGAIN

Dr. Cross Contends Pete Says No Fund

By Don Bryant
Oklahoma's president, Dr. George Cross, kept the fire boiling under the OU-Bill Jennings-NCAA controversy all day Tuesday, and then threw another log on the hearth during the evening.
As the Sooners continued to air their dirty linen, Dr. Cross pulled Pete Elliott — former Nebraska coach and OU assistant—Tuesday night.
'Pete Swears'
In an Associated Press story from Norman, Dr. Cross was reported as saying Pete Elliott, who assumed chief recruiting duties for OU football players, will swear there was no illegal recruiting fund after former Assistant Coach Bill Jennings left in 1954.

This brought a sharp reply from Jennings, who said: "I feel this thing is getting kind of silly. Dr. Cross ought to get on the TV program, 'Keep Talking.'"
Jennings, a former assistant coach under Elliott here until the latter took the California job before skipping to Illinois, said he "was sorry Pete has been involved."

"I'd like to hear Pete say the words attributed to him by Dr. Cross," Bill said.
"The statement by Dr. Cross indicates to me that Pete knew a fund did exist earlier, if not later. It is difficult to make a statement without seeing what Pete actually said, only what Dr. Cross claimed he said."

Complete Statement Of Dr. Cross p. 14

According to the Associated Press, Dr. Cross said Elliott, new head coach at Illinois, has offered to send a sworn statement to that effect to the NCAA, covering the period from 1954 until 1957, when he left the staff.
'Did Not Operate'
Cross, according to the wire service, said, "This would indicate that the fund did not operate, as the NCAA might suspect, after early 1954."

Jennings said late Tuesday night, "Since, according to Dr. Cross, Pete will swear that there was no fund after 1954, I wonder if he will swear that no fund existed prior to 1954."
The latest statement from the OU president aroused speculation that the Sooners are trying to avoid NCAA suspension by accumulating affidavits to the effect that the illegal fund is no longer in operation.
Won't Open
Oklahoma City accountant Arthur Wood has refused to open the books on the fund, as requested by the NCAA, and the NCAA has said it will not revoke the suspension until it sees the books and is convinced that the fund is extinct.

With Wood balking on the open-book request, the Sooners may be charting other courses in an effort to satisfy the NCAA and return to the fold.
POINT BLANK
By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star
My good friend, The Rev. Dan Kealy of Superior, is a keen observer of the sports scene, in addition to being a mighty fine handball player.
Father Kealy writes on a recent issue raised in this corner:
"For various and diverse reasons I am sure that there are many 'educators' who would love not to de-emphasize sports in high school, but also to ban them altogether. There are many pros and cons for their theories. However, it looks like there are more arguments on the affirmative side and that sports are in high school to stay."
"Point Blank was good with the exception that it was not complete. You stated that there would be less publicity and fewer fans, but failed to complete it by saying that the fewer fans the less gate receipts, and the less the gate receipts the more TAX MONEY it will take to operate their programs (with the exception of parochial schools which are not tax supported)."
"Remember a few years back when they banned playing on Sunday because of the extra work for the janitor, the extra heat for the building, etc.? Using these arguments what, then, is the difference between playing on Saturday rather than Sunday?"
Comment: Father Kealy points up the growing problem of school administrators to blame all of the educational ills on athletics. Most recent example of the pressure being applied on the athletic portion of education was the decision to pack the enlarged state basketball tournament into a 3-day period. Rather than buck the ire of the administrators and take the logical step of increasing the tournament to 4 days, the NSAA dads took the easy way out and kow-towed.

Big Year For Brown

Ex-Husker fullback Jerry Brown of Minden was the top scorer on the Brooke Army Medical Center football team last fall.

Joltin' Jerry tallied 5 touchdowns and an extra point for 32 points.

His team posted a 4-4-1 record. The BAMC Talon, post newspaper, notes: "The Comet ground attack was paced throughout the season by the bull-like charges of Jerry Brown, who, happily, will return to the fullback slot again next year."

Odds 'N Ends

Congratulations are certainly in order for Bill Koehler, Lincoln's ace bowler, for his performance in the All Star Tourney in Omaha. While he didn't make the finals, Bill averaged 203 for 36 games in one of the most pressure-packed events in sports. Ranking 44th among the nation's bowlers in the All Star is a real feather for Bill, and the Capital City... Incidentally, Omaha can take a deep bow for its promotion and support of the tourney which has set an attendance record... Checking up on ex-Chiefs in winter ball: Joe Christopher is hitting .333 for Mayaguez in the Puerto Rican League, while Willie Melendez is traveling at a .325 clip for San Juan in the same loop. In Panama, Bill Onuska has a .278 average for Azucareros.

CHAMPION, SISTER IN CLOSE HARMONY

is their father Edward. Carol aims for a Gold Medal at the Winter Olympics, but Nancy will be unable to compete due to an ankle fracture sustained in practice last week.

Smith New Leader In Pin Tourney

Omaha (P)—Harry Smith of St. Louis leaped from the obscurity of 9th place into the lead after the 4th round of the All-Star bowling tournament Tuesday night.

Smith's startling advance came on the final squad of the night when he swept his 4 game series with Carmen Salvino of Chicago to build his Petersen point total to 78-09.

Salvino, who tumbled from second to 11th place as a result of the pasting, shot 211-176-163-749.
Shirley Garms of Chicago broadened her lead in the women's division when she rolled a 221-170-391 series in the 4th round for 38-31 points.

Secret Rules Alteration Goes Up For Final Vote

Miami Beach, Fla. (P)—A subcommittee appointed to mull over suggestions for changes in the substitution rule has come up with a winner so far as the football rules committee is concerned.

But it isn't unlimited substitution in the sense it was before 1953.

This was obvious Tuesday as the rules makers took a provisional vote on the carefully-guarded alteration proposed by the subcommittee and approved it almost unanimously.

That the change doesn't encompass free substitution was apparent in the statement of Gen. Bob Neyland, rules committee chairman.

"I will be greatly surprised if the checkoff rule is not changed," Neyland said.
It was apparent from this comment that free substitution was out, inasmuch as no checkoff would be necessary under that system.

Dusek And Jap Help Save Day

... Doctor X Stranded In KC

By Don Bryant
Kinji Shibuya and Ernie Dusek helped save the day at Pershing Auditorium by supplying a slam-bang finish to what was slated to be a dismal pro grapple show.

Dusek was a last-minute sub for Doctor X as the weather tried its best to wreck Promoter Jack Pesek's program.

With a crowd of some 3,600 on hand to see Doctor X meet Shibuya in a challenge match and Dick The Bruiser in the semifinal, the weather took command.

Both X and The Bruiser were grounded in Kansas City, and could not get to Lincoln.

Pesek gave the fans their choice of staying for the Shibuya-Dusek match or getting a ticket refund. Some pulled stakes with their refunded money, while some 2,200 of the faithful stuck around and got their money's worth.

"I am as sorry as anyone could be that this happened," Pesek said. "We tried every way possible to get Doctor X here. We even explored the possibility of chartering a private plane for him when he couldn't get here by airliner."

"But, with both Kansas

AGGIES BEATEN

College Station, Tex. (P)—Steve Strange's 34 points led the Southern Methodist Mustangs to a 66-64 upset victory over previously unbeaten Texas A&M here Tuesday night before 6,800 fans — largest home crowd in Aggie history.

City and Lincoln weathered in, it was impossible. We didn't give up until 9:45 p.m., at which time I talked with Doctor X via long distance and he said he could not get out of Kansas City."

While the show was partially dismembered and the crowd diminished, those that stayed saw a whale of a finish.

With the Jap-Dusek match standing at one fall apiece, the action got rougher than usual and Dusek landed a solid punch on Shibuya's nose. It brought The Jap's blood out and his temper to the boiling point.

In no time he was whaling away at Dusek and Referee Tom Novak with a wooden sandal, flooring both of them. As an added attraction, an overly-excited fan tore into the ring and lunged for The Jap.

The young man ran smack into a sandal in the face, and into the arms of 3 policemen who rushed into the ring to restore order. Scarlet-spattered Shibuya and Ernie finally stopped chopping at each other and Novak awarded the match to Dusek by disqualification.

Preliminary action saw Jerry Gilbert stop Herb Larsen in 18:13 and Otto Von Krupp put the damper on Jerry Christy in 27:03.

Ernie Dusek, took two-of-three from Tommy O'Toole in the revamped semi.

Bill Seeking Open Books

... SAYS FUND NOT SECRET

By Don Bryant
Nebraska Football Coach Bill Jennings, originally branded as a "tattle tale" by an Oklahoma source, Tuesday was rapped by the University of Oklahoma president for not "singing" in 1954.

Dr. George Cross of Oklahoma kicked off the latest attempt to clean the Sooners' skirts in the heralded NCAA suspension case by charging Jennings with withholding knowledge of the illegal Oklahoma recruiting fund in 1954.

The OU president also stated, "I think no one now employed by the University of Oklahoma knew of the existence of the Wood-Jennings operation."

And in the latest of several contradictions, Dr. Cross resurrected the accusation that Jennings actually reported the Sooners to the NCAA last year. Earlier, Dr. Cross had said that Sooners Coach Bud Wilkinson had reported the fund to the NCAA.

'Open Books'
Jennings quickly sided with the NCAA and challenged Oklahoma to "open the books and reveal all the details of the fund."

"If I am the only one that knew about it, why don't they go ahead and reveal the books on it?" Jennings said. "It would affect only me, and I'd be the one that would get in trouble."

"Also, it certainly is a misnomer to refer to the fund as the 'Jennings-Wood Fund,' as Dr. Cross does, because other people knew about it."

Jennings agreed with one portion of Dr. Cross' statement, but hinted disagreement with another by saying:

'Reluctant Witness'
"Dr. Cross is correct that I did not mention the fund in 1954. It is on the records of the NCAA as I told them I would not lie, neither would I volunteer any information. I told them I was a reluctant witness."

"However, in reference to Dr. Cross' statement that Mr. Wilkinson told me to tell everything and anything in 1954, Dr. Cross doesn't know what Mr. Wilkinson told me prior to the committee meeting in 1954. Dr. Cross wasn't there to hear what Mr. Wilkinson told me."

The heated controversy erupted last week when Oklahoma was placed on indefinite suspension by the NCAA and an Oklahoma accountant Arthur L. Wood charged Jennings with being responsible for starting the fund and for blowing the whistle on OU.

Others Knew
Jennings had denied either allegation, stating that others knew of the fund and that he did not "tattle."

Tuesday afternoon Jennings said:

"This thing all started when they accused Nebraska of illegally recruiting Bob Daniels of Wichita, which we did not."

"Oklahoma chose to take the matter to our faculty representative, rather than check with us to find out the facts."

Dr. Cross stated that Wilkinson wrote NU Athletic Director Bill Orwig concerning the Daniels case, but that Orwig did not answer.

Orwig Backs Bill
In Omaha, Orwig substantiated Jennings' charge that Wilkinson took the matter to the faculty level without first getting the facts.

"Actually, I wrote back and said I would look into it and would let him know," Orwig told United Press International, adding however, that the Oklahoma faculty representative, Dean Earl Sneed, contacted the Nebraska representative before he wrote Wilkinson again.

"I tried to get Bud by phone, but couldn't, and talked to Dean Sneed," Bill said. "I told him at that time I would have some complaints of my own."

Both Refuse
"I told Dean Sneed we would both take our information to the NCAA. They refused to do so, so I refused, too."

Jennings also said, "This is a pretty rough business. I recruited hard for Oklahoma, and now I'm recruiting hard for Nebraska."

The Cornhusker coach reiterated his early charge by saying:

"There are only two important issues at stake in the whole matter—whether or not I reported Oklahoma to the NCAA, and whether or not I was the only one involved in the fund."

Answered Well
"Oklahoma has answered the first question very well. Dr. Cross originally stated Wilkinson turned them in; now he says I withheld information in 1954."

"As for the second question, it can be answered very simply. All they have to do is open the books and they will show that others were involved."

STILT NEAR LEAD

... NBA Scoring

New York (P)—Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, with a 42-point average for his last 10 games, has moved within 35 points of leader Jack Twyman of Cincinnati in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race.

The latest statistics released Tuesday disclosed that Chamberlain has scored 1,378 points to 1,413 for Twyman. However, the Warriors' giant has played 8 fewer games than Twyman and is outdistancing the Cincinnati star in average per game—37.2 to 31.4.

The scoring leaders:

Games	Pts.	Avg.
1. Twyman, Cincinnati	45	34.4
2. Chamberlain, Phila.	37	37.2
3. Pettit, St. Louis	37	36.6
4. Shue, Detroit	43	32.7
5. Arizin, Philadelphia	38	31.8

Fairbury Returns Without 4 Champs

Fairbury's amateur boxing team will return to the Southeast Nebraska Golden Gloves tournament minus its 4 titleholders.

Bantamweight Eric Haws, lightweight Nick Shepherd, featherweight Harvey Rossmiller and heavyweight Roger Hansen won't defend their crowns.

Rossmiller, Roode Back

Despite the losses, Manager Lew Hollaway's squad is expected to present a tough case in defense of its team title Friday and Saturday at Pershing Auditorium.

Hollawayers include Eldon Rossmiller, Jim Roode and twins Joe and Jan Vance.

Rossmiller, a Peru State student, copped a first-round technical knockout over David City's Ron Compter in a semifinal bout, then was decided by Roger Lane for the middleweight title last winter.

Roode, a frosh griddier at the University of Nebraska last fall, lost a first-night decision to Lincoln's Leonard Johnston in the 175-pound class.

IT JUST HURTS WHEN I PRAY!

Milwaukee (P) — Henry Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves telephoned the Braves office recently and mentioned that his back was bothering him.

Somewhat disturbed, General Manager John McHale suggested that Aaron might want to come to Milwaukee from his home at Mobile, Ala., for an examination. But Henry said no.

"It doesn't hurt when I swing," Aaron explained, "only when I kneel in church."

Rockets' Marple Player Of Week

By Al Beebe

Jim Marple of Lincoln Northeast was the outstanding man as the Rockets got themselves on the right track last week with a pair of impressive victories. Marple earns The Star's "Basketball Player of the Week" award for his efforts.

In Friday's 55-50 win over Hastings, Marple hit 4 field goals in the first quarter as the Rockets roared to a 19-6 lead. Later, he canned 2 free tosses late in the contest to put the game on ice. The 6-0 senior was NE's high scorer with 12.

At Omaha Westside Saturday night, Marple upped his output to 19 as the Rockets scored a 53-40 triumph.

The 19 points is the most scored by an NE player this year, and Marple may be the answer to Coach Ed Johnson's search for a consistent high scorer.

Rockets' Marple Player Of Week

Along with these other top performers, Marple will receive a card from The Star.

Weight Assumption: Clarence Ekstein scored 49 points to top all Division A scorers.

Oscola—Maurice Hanzacker's 19 helped score 50-44 upset of Central City.

Oscola—Maurice Hanzacker scored 30, 4th in 44-35 win over Falls City.

Beatrice—Bob Hahn paced team to 130 minute break up a close game in 44-35 win over Falls City.

Ord—Rich Zulkoski dunked two free tosses in final 3 seconds to beat Loup City, 49-47.

Selton—Darwin Blue scored 15 points, including basket in second overtime to upset Harvard, 43-41.

Elkhorn—Lynn Johnson scored 49 in 63-39 loss to Ralston.

Gering—Larry Miller led Valentine Invitational win over host team with 31 points.

Wayne—Roger Denesia set school record of 49 points against Pender and hit 31 against Madison.

Stratton—Rich Polson's 36 points and 22 rebounds dumped Red Willow, 76-30.

Cook—Bob Schmidt, playing with slightly sprained ankle, scored 12 and hauled in 22 rebounds to end 23 game losing streak, 54-40 over Nehawka.

Billy Cannon Feud Continues To Boil

New Orleans (P) — The Billy Cannon feud was booming on all fronts Tuesday, except at Louisiana State University where officials washed their hands of the whole thing.

LSU athletic director James Corbett said he felt the problem was "individual and not an institutional matter, and consequently does not anticipate any inquiry whatsoever by either the NCAA or the Southeastern Conference."

Corbett added: "We, like everyone else, are confused by the apparent legal entanglements involved."

It all started immediately after the fleet LSU halfback, twice named All-America and winner of a long string of other sports awards, played in the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game.

Both the Houston Oilers of the new American Football League and the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League claimed Cannon had agreed to play on their squads.

Later, Cannon said he believed the only binding contract he signed was with the Houston Oilers just after the Sugar Bowl contest.

But the Rams, who made Cannon their No. 6 draft choice, filed suit in federal court at Los Angeles claiming Cannon on Nov. 30 signed contracts for 1960-62. The LSU star contends he reached only a "tentative agreement — not a binding contract — with the Rams."

K. S. Adams, owner of the Oilers, said in Houston the suit was "just another effort on the part of the NFL to slow up progress of the AFL. I don't know what will happen, but we feel we have a binding contract with Billy."

Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., said when an athlete "signs a professional contract he renders himself ineligible for college competition with any NCAA member college. The facts are in dispute as of now in this case."

"I think it is for Louisiana State and the Southeastern conference to determine what the facts are."

Geneva's Defense Assists Comeback

Geneva — Geneva's full-court press dealt Fairbury a 56-51 reversal in a dippy-doodle tussle here Tuesday night.

The winners recovered from 42-33 deficit after experiencing a 4-point 3rd quarter.

The press clicked for 23 points and awarded the Wildcats their 6th verdict in 8 outings. Defeat was Fairbury's first in Nebraska prep tests.

SOONER PRESIDENT CROSS HAS HIS SAY

"In view of the extensive publicity and speculation concerning the event and personalities that have led to the University's present probationary status with the NCAA, it seems advisable to present certain facts chronologically listed which may help clarify the situation."

"On the 13th of April 1954 we received a letter of inquiry from the NCAA concerning our athletic practices. Mr. Bill Jennings left the employ of the University that same spring of 1954. During the late spring and summer of 1954 we prepared an extensive report to the NCAA which was submitted Aug. 31, 1954."

"On Dec. 7, 1954 our representatives met with the Committee on Infractions of the NCAA in Kansas City. Arrangements were made for the Committee on Infractions to visit our campus on the 15th and 16th of December, 1954. When the committee came to our campus we arranged for Mr. Jennings to be present. He was asked by Mr. Wilkinson to tell the committee anything and everything that the committee wanted to know about our program."

TELL WHOLE STORY

Mr. Wilkinson and Dean Sneed reported this matter to me on or about Aug. 20, 1957 and I suggested that they tell the whole story to Mr. Fullbrook, the Nebraska faculty representative.

"At the Big Eight meeting on the 2nd and 3rd of October, 1957, Dean Sneed told Mr. Fullbrook this story and stated that if Mr. Jennings had information that should go to the NCAA he should present it to that organization. In the spring of 1958 our department of intercollegiate athletics received a phone call, a letter and a visit from a student at Nebraska who was interested in the University of Oklahoma. Later, by invitation, our coaches visited the student at his home in Nebraska."

"Subsequently Mr. Jennings addressed a letter to Mr. Wilkinson in which Mr. Jennings stated that if and when the student from Nebraska announced he would go to Oklahoma it would be necessary for him (Mr. Jennings) to give information to the NCAA which had been withheld at the time of the investigation in 1954."

COPIES FORWARDED

"Because this letter concerned information apparently unknown to the NCAA at the time of the investigation, Mr. Wilkinson felt that copies of his reply to Mr. Jennings should be forwarded to Chancellor Hardin of Nebraska and to Walter Byers of the Interfractions Committee concerning the eligibility for a grant NCAA. This was done on May 13, 1958. Thus it was Mr. Wilkinson's letter and not Mr. Jennings which brought the matter to the attention of the NCAA. We think that information supplied the NCAA by Mr. Jennings came after Mr. Byers received a copy of Mr. Wilkinson's letter. There was no reference in Mr. Jennings' letter about Mr. Wood and the fund he provided for recruiting at OU. There was no mention of Mr. Wood or the fund in Mr. Wilkinson's reply or the copy of a reply that he sent to Mr. Byers. I think that no one now employed by the University of Oklahoma knew of the existence of the Wood-Jennings operation. Mr. Jennings did know of it. It would be only natural for Mr. Jennings to give the information to Mr. Byers when questioned about the matter."

"During May, 1957 Mr. Wilkinson wrote to Mr. Bill Orwig, director of athletics, University of Nebraska, concerning aid for an athlete from Wichita. By this time Mr. Jennings had been appointed head coach at Nebraska. Mr. Wilkinson did not hear from Mr. Orwig. He then asked our faculty representative, Dean Earl Sneed, to make inquiry."

"On July 10, 1957 Dean Sneed wrote to Mr. Earl Fullbrook, faculty representative of the University of Nebraska, requesting a check on the matter. During the week of July 10-18, 1957 Dean Sneed received a long distance call

Finsterwald Takes First; Monti Skys

Los Angeles (P) — Steady-shooting Dow Finsterwald won the $37,500 Los Angeles Open golf tournament Tuesday as the pace-setter for 3 rounds, Eric Monti, suffered a startling collapse and blew a 4-stroke lead.

The 30-year-old Dow, from Tequesta, Fla. — often called best man but never a groom in golf circles — shot a final round 71 for a 72-hole score of 280, 4 strokes under par for the distance.

Monti came with a fat 80, grinning ruefully as he approached the gallery at the 18th green. He posted a total score of 285 and a tie for 7th place.

In a spirited duel for runner-up honors, husky Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., and Bill Collins of Denver finished in a tie for second at 283.

Tommy Bolt's 69 gave him a 284 and a tie with Don January of Denver, with a 72, for the next position.

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont — Midland hauled into a tie for the Nebraska College Conference lead while pasting Concordia 78-61 here Tuesday night.

The victory upped the Warriors to 5-0 in the conference and 9-3 on the season. Concordia dropped its 5th against one loop triumph.

Midland owned a narrow 33-27 halftime bulge but sprinted to a 54-23 command midway through the final half and subs took over to the finish.

Denny Groves of the Warriors led all scorers with 22 points. Rick Hillman and Glen McCoy chipping in with 18 apiece.

Roger Schmidt had 19 and Jim Juergensen 16 for the losers.

Hillman, a 6-8 sophomore from Essex, Ia., hauled down 22 rebounds for Midland. The torrid hosts found the range for 34 field goals.

Cincy Gets Tough Challenge Tonight

By The Associated Press

Oscar Robertson and his University of Cincinnati teammates stick their necks out tonight in an effort to justify their No. 1 position in college basketball, which has become quite firmly established halfway through the season.

The latest Associated Press ranking poll of sports writers and broadcasters again lists Cincinnati, California, West Virginia and Bradley in the first 4 positions.

As far as the balloting shows, there's little doubt about Cincinnati's top billing. The Bearcats drew 147 of 174 first-place votes and 1,716 points on the usual 10-9-8 etc. basis. Voting was based on results through last Saturday.

Tonight Cincinnati takes on St. Louis, one of its two leading rivals in the potent Missouri Valley Conference.

The Bearcats tackle Bradley, the other challenger, Saturday at Peoria, Ill. Either could end Cincinnati's undefeated fling and its reign as No. 1 team.

The leaders generally are about halfway through their seasons. With tuneups and tournaments ended, nearly every game from now on will bear on conference titles and chances to play in post-season tournaments.

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont — Midland hauled into a tie for the Nebraska College Conference lead while pasting Concordia 78-61 here Tuesday night.

The victory upped the Warriors to 5-0 in the conference and 9-3 on the season. Concordia dropped its 5th against one loop triumph.

Midland owned a narrow 33-27 halftime bulge but sprinted to a 54-23 command midway through the final half and subs took over to the finish.

Denny Groves of the Warriors led all scorers with 22 points. Rick Hillman and Glen McCoy chipping in with 18 apiece.

Roger Schmidt had 19 and Jim Juergensen 16 for the losers.

Hillman, a 6-8 sophomore from Essex, Ia., hauled down 22 rebounds for Midland. The torrid hosts found the range for 34 field goals.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chery's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

Lincoln's Banks Report 1959 Operations Good

National Bank Of Commerce Increases Capital, Surplus

Stockholders of the National Bank of Commerce voted Tuesday to increase the bank's capital $300,000 and the surplus $300,000, President Byron Dunn announced.

The increase brings the total bank capital to $1,800,000, the surplus account to $1,800,000, and undivided profits and reserves to more than $1,000,000.

Stockholders re-elected all present board members and one new director, Judge Oscar Clarke, recently appointed to head the bank's trust department.

At the board meeting following the stockholders meeting, Chester Nielsen was promoted to assistant vice president and auditor; Delphin Sommerhalder to vice president and trust officer, and John Shipferling to assistant vice president.

Shipferling will assist Paul Bogott, cashier.

Progress Reviewed

At the stockholders meeting, progress on the new quarters of the bank was reviewed. Offices have already been moved into the 3rd and 4th floors of the former Howard-Swanson building, and 3 floors of the former National Bank of Commerce section are now rented.

First and second floors of the new building are expected to be ready for occupancy by March 1, stockholders were told.

Installation of several new elevators is also underway, one at the present bank site. Completion of the front door and the aluminum marquee are expected to be completed by March 1, weather permitting.

New Elevators

Stockholders were told that several new elevators will be installed, one at the front of the building running from the lower lobby to work rooms on the 3rd floor, and two at the back, one on the present bank side and one in the old Howard-Swanson building. Several "easy" stairways will also be constructed.

The bank proper will have two private offices and 8 spaces for loan officers and their secretaries, with a public waiting room equipped with telephones, desks and lounges at the north end of the building.

Plans Approved

The directors were advised of the staff plans as to the duties of each officer for 1960 and the plans were approved.

Other bank officers are:

Dunn, president; Carl D. Ganz, executive vice president and trust officer; Albert A. Held, executive vice president; Glenn Yaussi, senior vice president and trust officer; Herman Brockmeier, vice president and trust officer; Paul Bogott, vice president and trust officer; Oscar Clarke, vice president and trust officer; D. G. Kroger, vice president and trust officer; Carl R. Amos, vice president and trust officer; Gene C. Eaton, vice president; A. F. Jorgensen, vice president; Rex E. Miller, vice president; Ted Thompson, vice president; Dan Van Buskirk, vice president; Julius Well, vice president; Myron Weil, vice president; Robert Welleser, vice president; Wilbur Baack, vice president.

Paul Dunlap, trust officer; John E. Wilson, trust officer; Oral Beckmann, Faye Van Landingham, Jim Nison and Don Wright, assistant cashiers; Ross Hecht, assistant trust officer.

Directors re-elected are: William I. Aiken, Robert H. Ammon, Dr. Everett E. Angle, Charles N. Cadwallader, Byron Dunn, Charles H. Flansburg, Arnott Folsom, Carl D. Ganz, Albert A. Held, Otto H. Liebers, Henry Maser, Gardner Moore, O. J. Shaw, Phil Sides, P. O. Southworth, M. L. Springer, Charles W. Swingle, B. A. Weil, Julius Well, Myron Weil, and Glenn Yaussi.

HAVELOCK REPORTS INCREASE

Havelock National Bank of officials reported an increase in customers and new accounts during 1959 and predicted a good year for 1960 at annual stockholders meeting sessions Tuesday.

Continued high employment at Burlington Shops and Goodyear, and prospects for another good farm crop were given as reasons for the continued progress expected in the bank.

Stockholders re-elected the bank's officers and directors who are: Victor E. Anderson, president; Emory R. Pont, executive vice president; A. E. Eichberg, C. A. Spader, Paul Karnes and A. L. Minier, vice presidents, and Donald W. Kelley, cashier.

Union Bank Plans Trust Department

Union Bank stockholders were told Tuesday of bank plans to open a trust department when official sanction is received.

At annual meeting sessions, President C. H. Wear told of the expansion of bank services planned for this year. The department must be officially approved by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the State Banking Director.

When approval is received, the expansion will require the services of an additional bank officer to head the trust department.

C. F. Petty, formerly vice president, was promoted to executive vice president of the bank, and Arthur E. Pine was named assistant vice president.

Union Bank increased its capital fund to $200,000 late in 1959, transferring $50,000 from its surplus into the capital funds. Surplus was then increased to $110,000 by an addition of $10,000 from undivided profits.

Wear told stockholders that 1959 was the best earnings year in the bank's history. He predicted that 1960 outlook for banking was for even greater progress.

Officers re-elected were: Wear, president; William E. Barkley, J. T. Heaney and Katherine Dugan, vice presidents; Joseph Martin, cashier; E. R. Martin and Marie Reis, assistant cashiers.

Directors re-elected were: Wear, Petty, R. R. Perry, Miss Dugan, and Barkley.

Coln Turnbull, famous Scottish anthropologist, spent the last three years living with primitive tribes in the Belgian Congo. Shortly he will become director of the African Department of the Museum of Natural History in New York.

1959 'Best Operating Year In History' At First National

First National Bank had the best operating year in its history in 1959, stockholders were told at the bank's annual meeting Tuesday.

It was reported that net profits for 1959 totaled $460,000. Dividends of $235,000 were paid and $225,000 was retained as an addition to capital funds, which stood at $5,699,000 at yearend.

Burnham Yates, president, described the activity in the various banking departments during 1959. Customer loans rose very rapidly during the year and attained a new high level. Average deposits also were increased over previous periods.

Yates said usage of bank services by its customers was at a new high. He particularly noted the use of the bank's drive-in windows, which handled in excess of 100,000 deposits during the year.

New Facility Open Soon

The new drive-in banking facility at 13th and L should be open for business within a month or two, Yates stated. He expressed the belief that this would provide great convenience for the bank's customers.

He also added that the remodeling of the bank building at 10th and O should be completed within a few months.

Retirement of George W. Holmes as chairman of the board was announced at the annual directors meeting. Holmes will continue as a director of the bank.

He has been associated with the institution for over 55 years and was president of the bank from 1927 until 1950. He expects to maintain his office in the bank, and will continue his active interest in bank and other business and civic affairs.

Ebenezer Church Pledges $1,100 To College Support

Members of Ebenezer Congregational Church at 8th and B have pledged $1,100 to the denomination's support of higher education.

The money will go to Yankton, S.D., College and Seminary.

A budget of $8,485 was adopted for the coming year at the church's annual meeting according to the Rev. C. George Kuhn.

Ralph A. Giebelhaus of 1911 So. 8th was re-elected chairman of the board. Other officers are:

LeRoy Walters, secretary; Joseph B. Damm, treasurer; Bill Amen, Sunday school superintendent; Phil Becker, assistant; and Katherine Pabst, organist.

Deacons: Alex Walters, Henry Zieg, Fred Schwabauer and Elmer Christensen.

Trustees: Edward J. Klein, George Nolda and Walter Schwabauer.

CITIZENS DEPOSITS INCREASE

Citizens State Bank reported a $630,000 increase in deposits during the year 1959 at its annual stockholders meeting Tuesday.

George W. Knight, bank president, called 1959 "probably the best year in the bank's history" and attributed the increased deposit figure during a period of "tight money" to new accounts and expanding business in the University Place area.

Prospects for 1960 remain good, Knight said, with expected expansion north and west of Lincoln, toward the Interstate Highway route, promising to continue to prosperity of the area.

On the negative side for 1960, Knight expressed the view that the farm situation is deteriorating, and farmers are feeling the pinch of lower prices and higher costs. He expects the farm "pinch" to be felt locally in the coming year.

Re-elected directors were: George A. Knight, Sam Waugh, E. L. Smith, Percy Mays, George W. Knight and Charles E. Knight.

Officers re-elected are: George A. Knight, president; Percy Mays, vice president; George W. Knight, cashier, and Charles E. Knight, assistant cashier and auditor.

Gross Revenue Said Up 19% At Continental National Bank

President C. Wheaton Battey reported at the annual stockholders meeting at Continental National Bank Tuesday that gross revenue from all sources in 1959 increased approximately 19% over 1958.

"December 31 marked the close of the first year's operation in our new building. It has been an extremely gratifying year—reaffirming our faith in the wisdom of our move to new quarters," Battey said.

"The year 1959 was one of substantial growth in number of both commercial and savings depositors," he said. "Trust assets, fees earned, accounts managed and the number of wills on file naming Continental executor and trustee reached a new high in 1959."

'Growth Probable'

"With the recent settlement of the steel strike, the continuing growth of our economy—city, state, and nationwide—seems probable," Battey said.

He also announced stockholder approval of a 4% stock dividend which will be paid to stockholders of record Jan. 12, in addition to the regular quarterly cash dividend.

Promotion to senior vice president was announced for Howard Hadley and Fred S. Aldrich.

Other promotions announced were: Robert R. Koudele, trust officer; Robert Kahn, assistant trust officer; David Schomburg, assistant trust officer and farm director; William Smith, Eames Irvin, Richard Sinkule and Joseph Essay, assistant cashiers.

Other officers are: C. W. Battey, president; A. W. Griffin, executive vice president; Walker S. Battey, senior vice president; E. Edgecomb, vice president; Donald J. Mathes, vice president and trust officer; C. J. Anderson, cashier.

Robert L. Chancellor, trust officer; Sterling M. Glover, comptroller and auditor; H. C. Carl, assistant cashier; Raymond B. Bauman, assistant cashier; Arthur L. Porsche, assistant cashier; Julius M. Peschet, assistant cashier.

Members of the board of directors, all re-elected, are: H. J. Amen, C. W. Battey, Edward A. Becker, J. John Granger, A. W. Griffin, John F. Lawlor, John C. Mason, Edward M. O'Shea, W. W. Putney, T. A. Sick, James Stuart and Gene H. Tallman.

Moulton Files For Re-Election

Sen. William S. Moulton of Omaha filed Tuesday as a candidate for re-election to a sixth consecutive term in the Nebraska Legislature from the 10th District.

His is the first filing for the post. Judge William F. Manasil of Burwell filed for election to the district judgeship in the 11th Judicial District.

He was appointed to the post in June, 1958, by former Gov. Victor Anderson, to replace Judge William Spikes who resigned.

The 11th District is comprised of Blaine, Garfield, Grant, Greeley, Hall, Hooker, Howard, Loup, Thomas, Valley and Wheeler Counties.

Mrs. Rose Marie Kloepper filed the suit against Edvins Rankis of 1901 No. 67th. Police said Rankis was the driver of the car which was in collision with her 68-year-old husband, Alvin, as he was crossing the street at 26th and O. Mr. Kloepper died the next day.

The widow of a Lincoln man who died as the result of injuries suffered in a car-pedestrian accident last Sept. 5 filed a $29,119.45 damage suit Tuesday in Lancaster District Court against the driver of the car involved.

On the negative side for 1960, Knight expressed the view that the farm situation is deteriorating, and farmers are feeling the pinch of lower prices and higher costs. He expects the farm "pinch" to be felt locally in the coming year.

Re-elected directors were: George A. Knight, Sam Waugh, E. L. Smith, Percy Mays, George W. Knight and Charles E. Knight.

9 Railroad Exhibits Entered Into Record Despite Protest

... 3-Day Hearing Likely On Lincoln-Alliance Issue

Alliance (P)—The State Railway Commission allowed the Burlington Railroad to enter 9 exhibits into the hearing record Tuesday over the vigorous protests of attorneys for the railroad brotherhoods and western Nebraska communities.

The exhibits showed the railroad was losing money on operation of trains No. 41 and 44 between Lincoln and Alliance. The Burlington has asked permission to discontinue one train a day each way.

Protesting the move are 11 communities along the line and the railroad unions.

W. N. Erzenz of Chicago, an assistant comptroller for the Burlington was on the stand all day. Burlington testimony at the hearing here is expected to begin again Wednesday morning.

Alliance attorney Albert Reddish protested the exhibits offered by the Burlington included many figures not applicable to the operation in question. He said too much of the material dealt in averages for operations in other portions of the system.

Ruled In Order

Commission Chairman Joseph Brown ruled the exhibits were in order.

These documents purported to show among other things that the two trains in question operated at a net loss of $84,494 for 1958 and $62,880 for the first 10 months of 1959.

The railroad is asking commission authority to drop the trains which normally consist of a passenger car and 4 mail and baggage cars.

The Burlington also operates another passenger train between the two cities.

The hearing is expected to last 3 days. Opposing the railroad's application are 10 cities and towns along the route and the 4 railroad operating brotherhoods.

Erzenz explained two exhibits relating to the operating losses. He said income on the line in 1958 was $305,495 while out of pocket expenses totaled $389,989.

Over objections he was permitted to testify that if the trains were discontinued all of the expense except depreciation could be averted.

Cities protesting the removal of the trains are Alliance, Hyannis, Mullen, Ravenna, Broken Bow, Merna, Mason City, Anselmo, Lincoln and Ansley.

Deputy City Attorney Henry L. Holst represented Lincoln.

Train 41 leaves Lincoln at 7 p.m. and arrives in Alliance at 4 a.m. On the return, No. 44 leaves Alliance at 11 a.m. and arrives in Lincoln at 7 p.m.

Veteran Red Cross Workers Honored

Seven of the 14 Red Cross service award winners were in attendance at the annual Nebraska Red Cross conference in Columbus. Those on hand for the award and recognition, left to right, were: Miss Emma Anderson, Fremont, (43 years service); Herman J. Wragge, Tekamah (43); Miss Ethel Murray, Lincoln (44); Mrs. Fred Haggart, St. Paul (40); Mrs. C. F. McAdams, Lincoln (43); Mrs. E. C. Edmond, Lincoln (43); and Miss Lona Trotter, Lincoln (42). (Photo Special to The Star)

6 Lincolnites Among Workers Youth Placed On Receiving Red Cross Awards 2-Year Probation

... Special Citation Presented To Duxbury

Duxbury

The Lincoln man was cited especially for his Red Cross work in Cass County and for his co-operation since joining the VA staff.

Despite bad weather 350 persons representing 50 of the state's 98 chapters attended the Columbus gathering.

Dr. John Thompson of Lincoln, head of the Nebraska Public Health Assn., presented the Nebraska State Red Cross a plaque to be circulated among the chapters in recognition for their work.

Individual awards for service of more than 40 years were presented to 14 persons, 7 of whom were present. Those attending were: Miss Emma Anderson, Fremont, 43 years; Mrs. C. F. McAdams, 43 years; Miss Ethel Murray, 44 years; Miss Lona Trotter, 42 years; and Mrs. E. C. Edmond, 43 years, all of Lincoln; Herman J. Wragge, Tekamah, 43 years; and Mrs. Fred R. Haggart, St. Paul, 40 years.

Others receiving the awards, but not present to accept them, were: Mrs. M. E. Crosby, North Platte, 43 years; Judge Clarence T. McMillan, Theford, 43 years; Mrs. Florence Murphy, Falls City, 43 years; Mrs. Lottie Kelly, Cass County, 43 years; Miss Evelyn Wolph, Cass County, 43 years; Miss Margaret Hallett, Lincoln, 42 years; and Elmer Hallstrom, Avoca, 40 years.

The American Red Cross is undergoing a "vigorous self-examination" to gear itself for a larger role in the life of the nation's communities, Ramone S. Eaton, national vice president, told the group.

He cited the need of new and unique ways to serve an expanding population.

"As people find more and more time for recreational activities, there will be an increasing need for safety education, first aid and highway first aid, and training in water safety and the handling of small craft," he said.

Another way in which the Red Cross can insure its future role is by placing greater responsibilities and opportunities in the hands of youth, he added.

The next statewide conference will be held in Hastings Nov. 17. In addition to Eaton, 3 officials from the regional St. Louis Red Cross office were in attendance.

Gering (P)—Garland Green, 20, Scottsbluff, was placed on two years probation when he appeared in District Court on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

He had changed his plea to guilty. The charge was in the death of pedestrian Walter Red Eyes, 50, Kyle, S.D., killed Dec. 6.

Elmer Gross, 21, a companion of Green, earlier was sentenced to 30 days in jail as an accomplice of Green.

Thawing Temps Enabling Soil To Soak Up Needed Moisture

A few days of thawing temperatures have enabled soil to soak up some of the moisture from Nebraska's snow cover, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Warmer than normal weather prevailed through the middle and latter parts of last week, they noted.

Snow has improved soil moisture supplies notably in eastern counties, but high winds caused considerable drifting in western counties and locally in the central

Scenic Beefline Group Will Meet

Omaha (P)—The first meeting of the Scenic Nebraska Beefline Assn. will be in Spalding Jan. 21. The association was formed to promote Highway 91 and 2.

The Spalding meeting will be to form a permanent organization.

O. A. Norland, president of the association, said the association will ask the state highway department to improve the highways in "workable units" rather than small, isolated pieces.

Thirty-three towns are on the beefline.

Driver Killed As Auto Hits Bridge Railing

Burwell (P)—Anton D. Svoboda, 22, of Burwell was killed Tuesday when his car crashed into a bridge railing on Nebraska 11 about one mile south of Burwell.

Safety Patrol Trooper Philip J. Quinn of Ord, who investigated the accident, said the Svoboda car was north-bound. It struck a 75-foot steel bridge and ran the left railing through the car. The railing penetrated the driver's body. He was alone in the car.

A passing trucker discovered the accident.

Svoboda's death was the 5th traffic fatality in Nebraska this year compared with 9 at this time a year ago.

Annual CAP Meeting Set For Hastings

Hastings (P)—The Nebraska Wing of the Civil Air Patrol, will hold its annual Wing Conference in Hastings this week-end. Approximately 125 members from 18 squadrons throughout the state are expected to attend.

A meeting of group and squadron commanders will be held Friday evening. Saturday's agenda includes discussions led by staff leaders, together with a panel discussion on "Air Search & Rescue-Domestic Disaster" conducted by USAF and CAP officers.

Guest speaker at the banquet that evening will be Carl Curtis (R-Neb).

Outstate Towns Plan 2nd Interstate Road Meet

By the Associated Press

A meeting has been scheduled at Kearney next Sunday for representatives of 22 towns seeking to prevent the building of the downtown Omaha route of the Interstate Highway ahead of outstate construction.

This group contends that outstate construction should be given a priority immediately behind the Omaha-Lincoln link but ahead of the $45 million downtown Omaha route.

Next Sunday's meeting will involve an executive committee authorized at a similar meeting in North Platte last Sunday.

The outstate group expressed fears that sinking so much of the interstate money — 15.6% — in eight-tenths of 1% of the entire state mileage might put Nebraska so far behind other states that routes in South Dakota or Kansas might become preferred transcontinental routes.

The transcontinental traffic both by motorists and truckers is regarded by this group as an important prop to Nebraska economy.

The 22-town task force was told last Sunday that if the plan of putting the Omaha downtown route ahead of the outstate link goes through, Nebraska will rank at the bottom of the states in total completed mileage.

They estimated that the amount of money needed to build the downtown Omaha route would construct between 60 and 120 miles of road outside Omaha.

They noted that the Omaha Stockyards are served separately by a route which is not in controversy.

Gas Tax Matter

The conferees also suggested that out-state support is needed to keep the 7th cent of gasoline tax on the books, and the best way to secure this support is to show the people in these areas some construction for their tax dollars.

Noting that the Omaha Chamber of Commerce estimated the construction of the downtown route would mean an over-all $100-million boost to the city's economy, they observed that the impact of this much construction dollar-wise outstate would produce an even greater impact.

The delegates to last week's meeting said they plan to work through chambers of commerce.

Towns represented at the North Platte meeting included: Lincoln, North Platte, Gibbon, Wallace, Lexington, Kearney, Gothenburg, Callaway, Minden, Chadron, Sidney, Cozad, Orleans, Elwood, Rushville, Ogallala, Alliance, Columbus, Gordon, Hastings and Wauneta.

The executive committee will be made up of a representative of each of the towns.

Brooks Defends His Program

McCook (UPI)—Governor Ralph Brooks treated the interstate highway somewhat philosophically in defending his program at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here.

Former Gov. Robert Crosby, originally scheduled to address the group, was unable to attend due to bad flying weather.

Brooks said after he was elected, newspapers in the state indicated he had a "hot potato" in the interstate program. Brooks said they had, at that time, given him the prerogative to make decisions, which he said, "I have done to the best of my wisdom. However, I have not been given the same consideration as my predecessor."

"There's no room for thought," Brooks said. "The interstate will be completed by 1975. Then, what are we going to do with it?"

Experiments are now being made with air-cars, which have no wheels and travel over terrain of any type, Brooks noted.

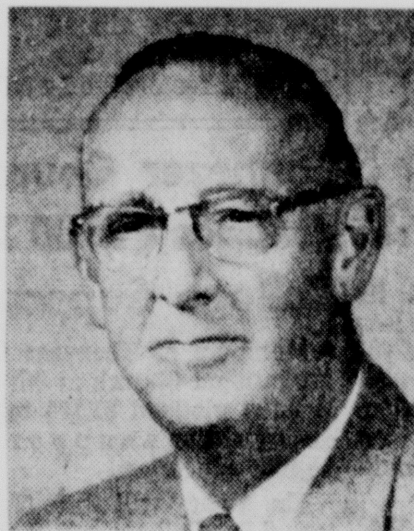

Some 175 attended the banquet.

Scotts Bluff Has Another Dry Hole

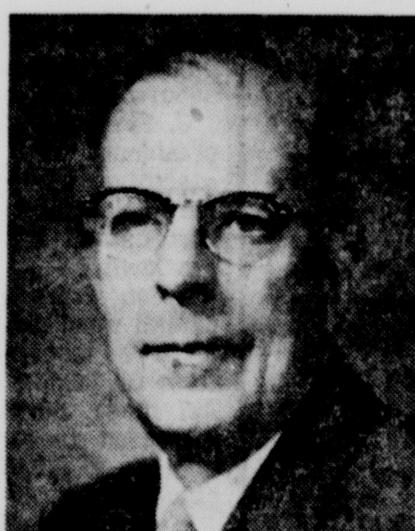

Gering (P)—Another dry hole was reported in Scotts Bluff County.

The Banner Oil Co., which had drilled its No. 1 Brozee to the J sand reported the failure. The No. 1 Brozee was southwest of Gering and about one mile north of the only two producing oil wells in Scotts Bluff County.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! Introductory size 43¢.

Cuba Still Without Land Courts

Havana (AP)—Cuba's National Agrarian Reform Institute still lacks the land courts it promised 8 months ago to settle disputes over the land seizure program.

This came out Tuesday in the wake of Cuba's rejection of a U.S. government note accusing Fidel Castro's government of violating Cuban as well as international law in the seizure of Cuban properties of U.S. citizens.

A spokesman for the institute, known here now from its Cuban initials as INRA, said creation of the land courts and drafting of their organic law are "still under consideration."

The reform law itself, as promulgated last May 17, said land courts "are hereby created for cognizance and decision of judicial proceedings that may arise from application of this law and others in connection with agricultural contracts and rural property in general."

It added that the institute shall draft the organic law for the courts within 3 months. This presumably

Cane Fields Fired

Havana (AP)—A spokesman for the Hershey sugar mill said an unidentified twin-engine plane dropped incendiary bombs Tuesday and set fire to 7 sugar cane fields northeast of Havana.

The Fidel Castro government has blamed such attacks on foes of the regime based in the United States. The Hershey sugar mill formerly was owned by Americans.

The institute spokesman said, however, any disputes may be taken to either the institute's legal department or civilian tribunals, including the Supreme Court.

"It's the same old run-around at INRA," said a land owner. "It's wait, wait, wait all the time. It's useless to try civilian courts without the organic law since they have nothing to go by, so we are stuck with vague promises."

Cuban as well as U.S. land owners have complained repeatedly that institute agents have moved in and seized machinery and other things without properly written authorization.

In some cases, property holders said, armed soldiers moved on their land and, when asked about the law they were operating under, responded: "What law? We're the law."

District American Lutheran Pastors Meet In Lincoln

New ministers of the Central District of the American Lutheran Ministers from Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, gathered in Lincoln Tuesday for an orientation session and an exchange of ideas.

Dr. Erwin Fritschel of Denver, president of the Central District, conducted the session for the ministers, all of whom have been in the ministry for 6 months or less.

TERSE SPECIAL MESSAGE—

Ike's Tight Money Battle With Congress Renewed

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower reopened his tight money battle with Congress Tuesday in a brief, almost curt, special message demanding removal of the interest ceiling on government bonds.

Congressional inaction on removing the 4 1/4% ceiling last session, Eisenhower said, has had the effect of loading taxpayers with interest rates on the national debt at the highest levels in several decades.

"I deem it imperative, therefore, that this restrictive ceiling be removed," Eisenhower's 3-paragraph message said.

It was the first special White House message of the new session, attesting to the urgency which Eisenhower attaches to the measure left languishing in a House committee when Congress adjourned last summer.

Widespread opposition in congress is ascribed to the unwillingness of the Democrats—who oppose the administration's tight money policy—to vote for any increase in interest rates.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, issued a statement criticizing the proposal. He said:

"It would be extremely unwise to remove this safeguard until we have effected important reforms in our fiscal, monetary and debt management policies which will make the long term interest rate more competitive and lower."

"Removing the ceiling at this time would only discourage such reforms and encourage those who are bent on driving the price of money continually upwards."

It forbids the treasury to pay more than 4 1/4% on securities maturing in 5 years or more. In the recent sustained and general upsurge of interest rates, the Treasury has been forced to rely on more frequent, shorter term borrowings. These are considered inflationary.

NEVIL SHUTE

'On Beach' Writer Dies

Melbourne, Australia (AP)—British novelist Nevil Shute died of a stroke Tuesday in Melbourne, the city he pictured in "On the Beach" as a scene in mankind's final destruction from cobalt radiation of World War III. He was 60.

Shute had suffered a series of heart attacks. These caused him to give up his old sports of yachting, motor racing and flying even while he went on quietly writing best sellers and looking after the livestock on his farm overlooking the sea.

His death came less than a month after the simultaneous world premiere in more than a dozen cities—including New York, London, Moscow and Melbourne—of the film version of "On the Beach," his most successful work.

Shuns Premiere

Shute did not like the movie, produced by Stanley Kramer and starring Ava Gardner, Gregory Peck and Fred Astaire. He refused to attend the Melbourne premiere because he considered Kramer had misused the right to make alterations in the script.

Shute was an aeronautical engineer who turned to writing in 1926.

He became one of the world's most financially successful authors, earning more than $180,000 a year from royalties. He said he moved to Australia in 1950 because of his dislike for Britain's high income tax rates.

He leaves a wife and two daughters.

K Of C Council In Northeast Planned

Plans for the establishment of a new Knights of Columbus council, for northeast Lincoln, were formulated at an organizational meeting Tuesday evening.

Following in the meeting District Deputy Robert W. Rustermer said, "the new council is practically assured."

He said the name and official number of the council are still pending. However, the council is expected to be activated Feb. 28 according to Rustermer.

Assisting in the organizational work was Ivan J. Tajchman of Omaha, general agent for the Nebraska State council.

John C. O'Connor of New Haven, Conn., assistant to the director of new council development, also addressed the meeting attended by 50 persons.

Resplendent Daddy Grace, Revered By Millions, Dead

Los Angeles (AP)—Charles Manuel Grace, picturesque Negro evangelist and church founder revered by millions, died Tuesday. He was 78.

Daddy Grace, as he was known to adherents across the nation, succumbed in Metropolitan Hospital shortly after midnight. Dr. Henry Silver said he suffered a heart attack Friday and a stroke Sunday.

The elegant and opulent elder claimed that his church, the House of Prayer for All People, had a membership of 3 million in more than 60 cities.

"Boy Friend of World" "I am all people's man," he told his flock. "I am the boy friend of the world!"

The colorful religious leader looked and lived the part. He painted his houses of worship—and his fingernails—red, white and blue. He wore a mustache and cutaway frock coats. Some of his coats were green, with trousers that matched.

His fingers were jeweled and his hair flowed over his shoulders.

Relatives said Grace had built 350 houses of prayer in the past 30 years. He also acquired many other properties in major cities, including the Grace hotel-apartments and a $450,000 85-room mansion in Los Angeles.

In Charlotte, N.C., where Daddy Grace has a congregation of more than 13,000, the church cafeteria offers Grace coffee from his own Brazilian plantation and eggs from his hatchery near Havana, Cuba. A beauty parlor at the church sells Grace cold cream.

Unemployed Benefits Down 32 Pct. In '59

Benefits paid unemployed workers in Nebraska during all of 1959 under the state employment security law declined 32% from 1958, Donald D. Bastemeyer, state labor commissioner, reported.

The decrease was due to Nebraska's quick recovery from the 1958 economic slump "and because of excellent crops throughout the state," Bastemeyer said.

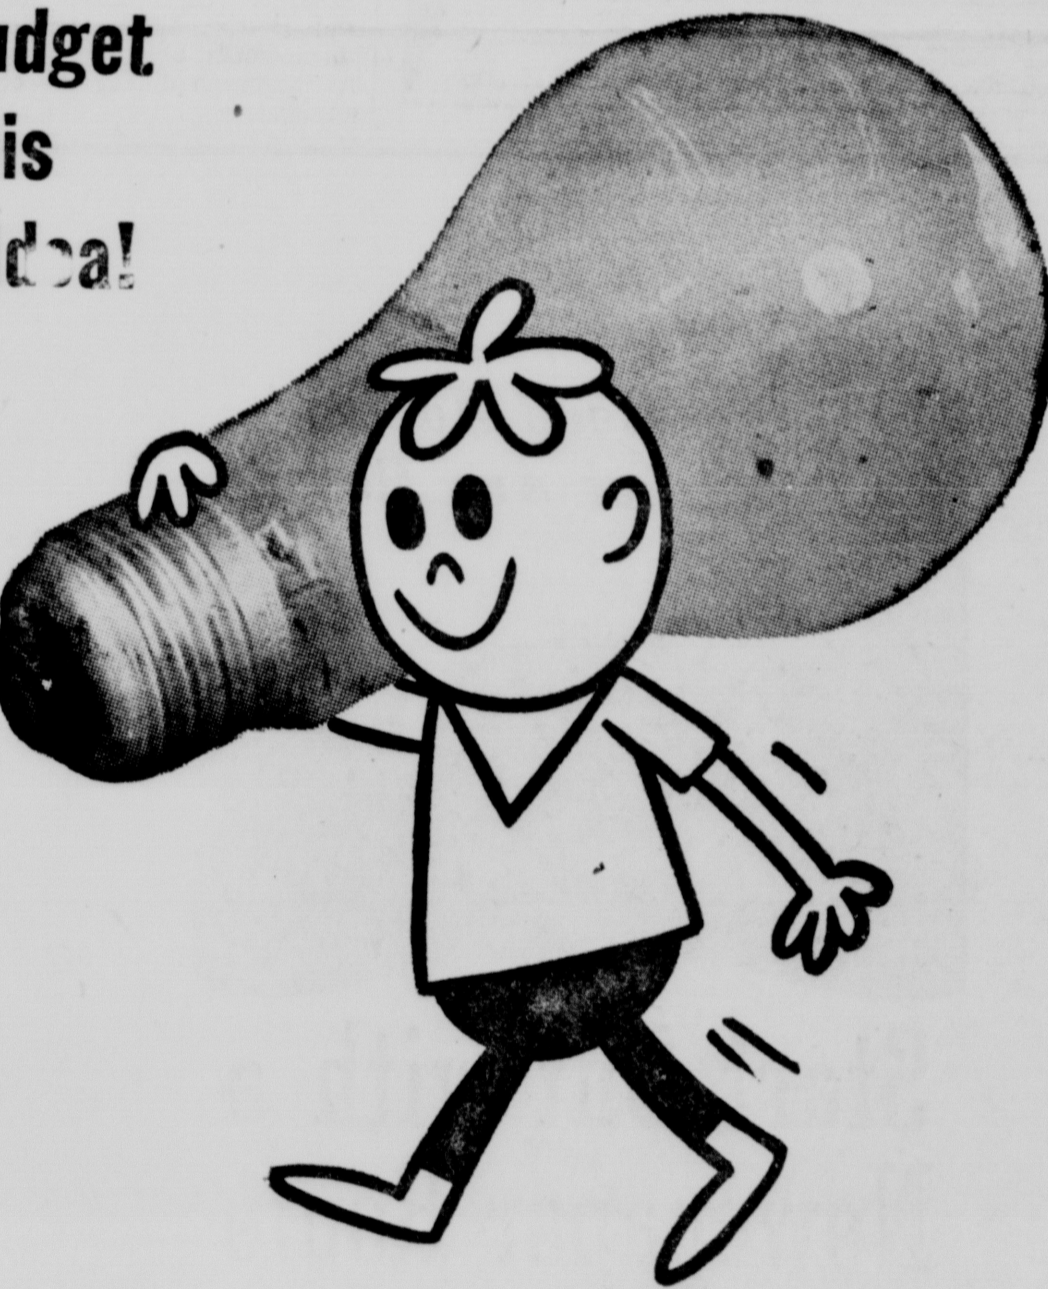

Throughout 1959 most of the state's unemployment, except in the Omaha and Lincoln areas, was seasonal, he said.

Persons actually receiving unemployment insurance averaged 4.255 per week in 1959 compared to 6.276 in 1958.

The job situation in the state improved considerably, too, in 1959 as division of employment security offices filed 64,994 non-farm jobs compared to 57,305 in 1958, a 13% increase, he said.

However, farm placements in 1959 declined 14% to 38,167. In 1958 division offices reported 44,371 placements on farms.

Present State Nursing Home Fire Safety Rules To Be Held For 6 Months

State Fire Marshal Joe Divis said Tuesday that a committee representing all sections of the state will be named to review rules concerning fire safety in nursing homes and that present rules will be held in abeyance for six months.

A regulation that such homes be connected to fire stations with an automatic fire detection system will not be enforced "until possibly July 1" so that no undue hardship will be imposed on operators of the homes, Divis said.

Earlier, Mrs. Alice Grau, Alliance, president of the Nebraska Nursing Home Association, stated that if the former fire marshal could establish rules and regulations, then Divis should also have authority to set them aside if necessary.

"Any rule or regulation made for the entire state must fit the entire state, not just one or two communities," Mrs. Grau continued.

Any rule adopted must be capable of application by the majority, she said.

She suggested that a statewide committee could hammer out a feasible set of rules.

Regulations Minimum

According to G. E. Ekstrand, deputy state fire marshal, the regulations adopted were "minimum standards."

He said, "We must remember we are dealing with human lives and that nursing homes should be made as reasonably safe as possible."

He added, "We don't feel that we have been arbitrary in forcing down your throats something unrealistic," a charge which had been voiced at the hearing Tuesday.

Records will show, Ekstrand said, that during the past 10 years not one life and not even a fire injury has been reported by Nebraska's nursing homes.

He recalled a Missouri fire took the lives of 75 and another fire at Council Bluffs took about 16 lives in recent years.

Not Much Difference

Divis said that "except for the automatic fire detection system rule, I believe that the rest of the rules could be gone along with. Except for that one, I don't believe there is too much difference in what you want and the rules."

Divis and Ekstrand said they were sure that a committee could come up with recommendations that could be translated into regulations which could be followed across the state.

About 75 persons attended the hearing.

At the close of the meeting, Divis named Mrs. Grau and Ira Clark, Omaha, as two members of the committee. Clark represents the State Nursing Home Association in matters dealing with fire regulations.

Divis said Mrs. Grau will be asked to suggest the names of six or seven persons from the various districts of the association to serve on the committee. Another six or eight persons will be named by Divis.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good, and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they were 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied the same way.

These are the reports in simple words: Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on a revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes — their chins raised proud with confidence—the zest for living return—because—I presume—to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparations must appear on the label! The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 330 International Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in lanolin and vegetable oils to permit fast penetration and deep absorption and, when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 36-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results or your money back. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain, too. Costs less than 4¢ a day. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin—with wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get HORMONEX Beauty Serum today — then look for amazing results.
